ROOFERS END WEEK LABOR 'HOLIDAY'

Fullerton Glass Strike Unchanged

Orange county roofers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, went back to work today after a week's "labor holiday."

Seventy-five roofers failed to report for work last Monday after employers had refused to grant requests for a contract with the workers. Today, after a week of the "labor holiday," differences between the workers and their employers had been settled.

A meeting of the workers and employers was held Saturday afternoon, it was learned by The Journal today, at which time an agreement satisfactory to both parties was reached. Efforts had been made through the week to negotiate the difficulties.

BOTH SATISFIED
Employers had refused to sign the agreements because the roofers had asked for a three-month contract. Both employers and representatives of the roofers refused to divulge details of the contract, other than to say it is satisfactory to both sides.

With one major strike settled and negotiations pending in the other, organized labor in this county continued a drive to organize workers in various branches of industry.

CLERKS MEET TUESDAY
A big mass meeting of all retail clerks will be staged tomorrow night in the K. of P. hall, Fifth and Broadway, tomorrow at 8 p. m., it was announced today by Bob Davidson, business representative of the Retail Clerks International Protective association, Local No. 1137. Davidson urged all retail clerks to attend the meeting, saying that Councilman Christensen of Los Angeles, former candidate for president of the United States on the farm-labor ticket, will be the speaker.

Agreements first were presented employers a week ago last Saturday. When the employers failed to sign them, 98 per cent of the union members in the county failed to report for work the following Monday morning. Demands of the union for increased wages, however, have been granted, it was reported.

PICKET GLASS PLANT
In the meantime, the situation at the Mississippi Glass company plant west of Fullerton remained unchanged, factory officials said today. Striking workmen, 60 strong, continued to maintain an iron-clad picket line about the big plant pending working out of an agreement. The strike has tied up the factor operations, and has been in progress for a week and a half now.

Davidson said the retail clerks' union now has a membership of 600, the majority of which is in Santa Ana. Mass meetings will be held shortly in every other city of the county he said. He is devoting all of his time to organization of the union. Management of one big chain store here refused permission to distribute notices of the meeting when the organizer was in the store Saturday afternoon.

On another front, the A. F. of L. launched plans today to organize cannery employees of the county, calling a mass meeting for Fullerton on Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Odd Fellows hall. Organization work will embrace all big canneries of the county, it was stated, including the big Val Vita plant which adjoins the Mississippi Glass factory.

committee will accentuate the event in its bargain temperature.

Business man relates an arrangement for a family telephone conversation with another member of the family visiting in New York City. The arrangement was methodically scheduled whereby each local member was to talk in a sort of chronologic order, but when the crucial moment arrived one of the younger members insisted that his position be advanced, and insisted with such a yowl that no one else could talk, so he won out.

Art Eklund, first vice commander of the American Legion, and I don't see why they had to put the vice in it, thinks he's going to the Stockton convention. I don't know why he thinks so unless he's got to get permission. That's happened to me a lot of times. I thought I was going places too, until some one told me I wasn't. Ain't life grand?

The frost did more than damage oranges. Strange as it may seem it thawed out a lot of frozen interest that had been dormant too long for the good of the industry. I have heard more agitation about citrus growing since the January freeze than all the other years of my Southern California residence. Maybe that's why. You have to have something bit you to make you up. Inspections, auction sales, requirements, management, pools, sluggish returns to the growers. Say, maybe I've forgotten some, but there has been plenty. Well, I don't know what's the matter. But if there is something the matter, the only way to get it corrected is to start a revolution. I'm in favor of revolutions, just so they are confined to healthy debate. Complacency has its virtue, but I like a little righteous indignation thrown in.

Aided Kidnapers as "Favor"

PLEDGE FARM BILL ACTION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate agriculture committee voted unanimously today to report out a general farm bill within a week after the convening of the next session of congress.

Chairman Smith (D. S. C.) said the new bill would be ready for the senate regardless of whether the President called a special session or congress did not meet until January.

President Roosevelt told a recent press conference that crop control legislation should precede any renewal of commodity credit corporation loans on crops. Southern congressmen had been urging a 12 cent loan on cotton.

Members who conferred later with the President said crop loans might be forthcoming if assurance were given that a general farm bill would be enacted either at a special fall session or immediately upon convening at the regular January session. The President later told the press, however, that he had not yet received sufficient assurances of new crop control legislation to extend loans.

GERMAN OCEAN PLANE READY

LUEBECK, Germany, (AP)—Lufthansa airlines mechanics groomed the 16-ton seaplane Nordmeer today for the first of German survey flights looking toward establishment of an air service to New York.

The takeoff of the first of eight projected flights by the Nordmeer and her sister ship the Nordwind was tentatively set for 6 a. m. tomorrow (midnight eastern standard time). Flight Captain Joachim Blankenburg expected to make the first leg, to Lisbon, Portugal, in about 13 hours.

Besides Blankenburg, the Nordmeer will carry Second Pilot Count Siegfried von Schack, Radio Operator Wilhelm Kueppers and Mechanic Otto Gruschwitz.

Baby in 'Lung' Still Improving

Little Jerry Frederick Fitcher was still better today, thank you. Attached at the St. Joseph hospital said that the baby, who was placed in an iron lung last Thursday afternoon, was showing additional improvement today.

About three weeks old, the baby was taken out of the iron lung Friday night after his condition had improved to a marked degree under treatment based on use of the new iron lung respiratory device.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Fitcher, Orange, the baby developed a serious respiratory trouble, necessitating rushing an iron lung to the hospital. Fortunately, one of the modern devices was found in Los Angeles and did not have to be shipped here from Boston, Mass.

Knife Separates Siamese Twins

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—The separation of a seven-month-old baby from an embryonic twin joined to her hip was disclosed today at a Huntington hospital.

The baby, reputed to be the great-great-granddaughter of one of the original Siamese twins with the P. T. Barnum circus, was reported "just fine" at St. Mary's hospital.

The undeveloped twin, sources close to the hospital said, was attached to the normal baby by a band of flesh and there was no juncture of the spines.

Foster Parents Win 'Hoax' Baby

CHICAGO, (AP)—The foster parents of Baby Donald Otto Horst won a court order for his temporary custody today after they filed a formal petition to adopt him.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki agreed to permit the child be taken from an orphanage and returned to his "mummy" late today as soon as the Horsts could post a $2500 bond.

FOG CAUSES AUTO CRASHES

Automobile accidents caused injuries to seven persons over the week-end.

Roy Eldridge, 25, Tustin, was the most seriously injured when he suffered a broken left elbow when he lost control of his automobile on Culver road, two miles west of Culver corner. His car slid off the highway during a heavy fog. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

Emergency treatment was administered to Maxine Meyer Simms, 22, Los Angeles, when her car collided in the fog yesterday morning with a car driven by L. E. Nelson, 43, Redlands. The accident occurred on the Coast highway, one-half mile north of Crystal Cove. She was taken to the office of Dr. B. B. Mason in the Laguna Beach Emergency hospital.

In a rear-end collision involving the cars of F. Wallace Taber, 21, San Diego and James J. Hurst, 43, Los Angeles, injuries were sustained by Taber. The accident happened on 101 Highway, two miles north of Capistrano. Officer Lloyd Grover of the Highway Patrol made the investigation.

Two persons suffered injuries in a collision at Salt Creek, near Dana Point yesterday involving cars driven by Ernest Childs Roberts, 40, San Diego, and Chris Nelson, 64, Route 1, Wintersburg. Those injured were Chris and Cora Nelson. They were taken to Laguna hospital.

No one was injured when Benjamin F. Shippe, Route 1, Box 242, La Habra, was side-swiped by a small pickup truck in Laguna canyon.

Harry B. Spence, Montebello and Ted Plantz, Los Angeles slightly injured when their cars collided head-on during a fog on the Coast highway one and a half miles south of Huntington Beach Sunday morning. Spence was treated at St. Joseph's hospital.

Mdivani Seeks Second Bride

ROME, (AP)—Friends of Prince David Mdivani said today they expected his engagement to blonde Muriel (Honey) Johnson to be announced soon as the result of a whirlwind romance which began 10 days ago in Venice.

David Mdivani, last survivor of the three "marrying Molavians," met Miss Johnson, his friends said, at the hotel in Venice where she is staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. F. Johnson, of Bronxville, N. Y. Mdivani and Mae Murray were divorced in 1933.

Objections from Miss Johnson's parents, Mdivani's friends here said, had caused the couple to postpone the immediate marriage they wanted.

Vet First S. F. Bridge Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Coast guardmen searched today, but with little hope of success, for the body of a man said by the state highway patrol to have been the first to commit suicide by leaping from the Golden Gate Bridge.

The dead man was identified from a card found in a discarded coat as H. B. Wobber, 49, World war veteran who for the last seven years was a patient at the veterans hospital at Palo Alto. A strong ebb tide is believed to have swept the body to sea through the Golden Gate.

Visitor Wins Beauty Title

VENICE, (AP)—Phyllis Randall, 21, shapely and blonde, has been chosen "Miss California" though she hails from Charlotte, N. C.

Winning the eyes of judges over 45 contestants, Miss Randall was nominated to compete in the Atlantic City bathing beauty contest next month at which "Miss America of 1937" will be named. A crowd of 150,000 saw Miss Randall's initial triumph yesterday.

BARE MYSTERY WITNESS IN DYER CASE

WPA Foreman Will Testify About Girls

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Prosecution attorneys relieved the tedium of jury selection today by disclosing the identity of their chief "mystery" witness against Albert Dyer, accused of the triple child murders in Inglewood.

Joseph E. Fields, WPA foreman, will be expected to testify, the prosecution said, that he saw Dyer leaving Baldwin Hills the afternoon three little girls were strangled and ravished in an isolated canyon.

The testimony would be the first actually placing Dyer near the scene of the crime. The defendant has made and repudiated three confessions.

Deputy public defenders in charge of Dyer's case indicated in questioning prospective jurors that they will contend he is a pathological liar.

Symphony Upsets Tradition; Doffs Coats to Play

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Serge Koussevitzky, famous leader of the Boston Symphony orchestra, has established a precedent for perspiring musicians.

Interrupting the concluding program of the first half of the Berkshire symphonic festival yesterday, Koussevitzky, told the audience the acoustic shell in which the orchestra was performing was "inferentially" hot. He asked if the audience would mind if he and the musicians removed their coats.

Hearty applause and cheers indicated they would not mind.

The shirt sleeved orchestra, an old timer said, wrote orchestral history.

Arm Fractured In Collision

Carl Bernicke, 107 West Pine street, was taken to the Orange county hospital for treatment after a collision at Walnut and Main streets yesterday. Ira Donald Armstrong, 234 East Livingston street, Banning, was the driver of the other car.

Bernicke suffered a compound fracture of his right arm, lacerations on his wrists, and other cuts and bruises.

No one was injured in a collision involving the cars of Gregorio Rios, 7794 Evans street, Casa Blanco, and Robert A. Ramon, Route 1, Box 102, Anaheim, yesterday afternoon. The accident occurred at Eleventh and Bush streets.

British Flyers End Ocean Hop

FOYNES, Irish Free State, (AP)—The British flying boat Cambria landed at the mouth of the River Shannon today at 10:30 a. m. (4:32 a. m. E.S.T.) completing its survey flight of the North Atlantic Airways from Botwood, Newfoundland, in 12 hours and two minutes.

The Cambria's time was just under that of a sister ship, the Caledonia, on a similar flight and was the fastest west-east crossing of the current series of exploratory hops being made by the British and American planes. Her average speed was 168 miles an hour.

General Welfare Legion to Meet

"The powerful ways and means committee of the house of representatives in Washington has promised a hearing on the General Welfare Act of 1937 in January when congress reconvenes. All indications point to considerable progress in that session toward the enactment of our legislation."

This is the statement this morning by Frank Kendall, president of the Santa Ana post of the General Welfare legion as he announced the regular meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening at 7:30, Sycamore street entrance.

100,000 Catholics To Attend Mass

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—More than 100,000 members of the Italian Catholic Federation of California are expected to attend Pontifical mass in the Los Angeles Coliseum Sept. 5 during the annual convention here.

The day has been designated Catholic Action Day by Archbishop John J. Cantwell. A parade of 50,000 Catholics will precede the mass, at which Bishop Philip G. Scher of the Monterey-Fresno diocese will officiate. The convention opens Sept. 4.

tensely carried an urgency clause it was subject to referendum because it changes the duties of a state officer—the director of finance.

No signatures to either petition have as yet been certified to the secretary of state, but petitions have been in circulation against both measures for some time.

To hold up either law for a vote, 116,487 names are required. The O'Donnell bill did not carry an urgency clause. The governor in signing this bill said it carried provisions making it more advantageous to the state than the Olson measure, being broader in scope and applying to state owned fields in general and not merely the Huntington Beach pool.

STANDARD OIL MONOPOLY
Senator Olson would admit the possibility of the Standard Oil Company's obtaining a monopoly of drilling rights, since it would authorize drilling from littoral lands of which the oil company is the largest owner and therefore positioned to make higher bids.

Both measures would provide for an average royalty to the state of about 30 per cent. The Olson bill limited drilling to islands and piers. Both contain the provision the state could do its own drilling if not satisfied with bids received from private operators for contracts to mine the oil.

A two-third vote in both houses of the legislature is required to attach an urgency clause to a bill, designating the proposed act as

MENTON ASKS CHANGES IN FELON LAW

Would Block Loophole That Freed WA Leader

County officials moved today to amend an ordinance requiring registration of felons, as W. I. Fruit, Costa Mesa liberal, was freed on a charge through a flaw in the county law.

Fruit was arrested by the sheriff's office last week on charges of failing to register after he had been convicted of a felony. Inspector of the ordinance disclosed, however, that criminal syndicalism was not cited in the law, and that Fruit, who had served a term in San Quentin for that crime, could not be held.

Fruit at first refused to have the charge dismissed, but agreed to it after a conference Saturday. Today Justice D. J. Dodge of Newport township dismissed the charge on motion of Deputy District Attorney Robert Gardner.

District Attorney W. F. Menton said today he will bring before supervisors tomorrow an amendment to the ordinance, which will require all persons who have been committed to a state penitentiary for a felony to register with the sheriff's office on entering Orange county, except those who have been pardoned or paroled.

Rites Today for Former Justice

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Former Chief Justice Matt I. Sullivan of the California supreme court, a law partner of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, will be buried today.

Sullivan, a native of Grass Valley, Calif., died Friday after an illness lasting three months. Among the pallbearers will be Theodore Roche, former president of the San Francisco police commission and Sullivan's law partner for years; and Ronald Rolph, brother of the late Governor James Rolph, jr.

necessary to the public peace, health and safety. The Olson bill was given a two-thirds majority vote.

Director of Finance Stockburger was commissioned under the Olson bill to supervise the making of contracts for producing oil from the state's pool, and was given many other duties in administration of the act.

U. S. NAVY'S 'GOOD WILL' TOUR HALTED

5 Ships to Remain in China War District

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The navy announced today that the proposed good-will visit of the flagship Augusta and four destroyers of the Asiatic fleet to Japanese ports had been indefinite postponed.

No reason was given for the postponement, but a responsible source said the government wished to keep the five warships in waters near to the strife-torn Peiping, China, area, for potential protection of American interests.

The same source said no orders had been issued for the navy to intervene in the Sino-Japanese situation and there was no immediate likelihood of such orders being issued.

The Augusta, a cruiser and flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, is at Tsingtao and the destroyers are at Chefoo, both Chinese ports.

The navy vessels were to have toured Japan in September and October. They recently completed a good will mission to Vladivostok, Siberian port of Soviet Russia.

DEMOCRATIC YEARBOOK TO FACE QUIZ

Republican Leader Demands Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican Leader Snell of New York made public today a letter in which Attorney General Cummings said the justice department was investigating the legality of the Democratic national committee's sale of 1936 yearbook photographs by President Roosevelt.

The letter was in response to one from Snell asserting he had evidence indicating sale of the book was "an illegal device" to evade the law governing political campaign contributions.

Cummings told Snell the attorney general is permitted to give legal advice only to the President and heads of government departments, but added:

"However, you are informed that the department is making an inquiry with respect to this matter."

"If you have evidence in your possession which you deem indicates a violation of the federal corrupt practices act, may I suggest that you transmit it to this department for our consideration."

Snell, who has introduced a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the book sales, termed Cummings' letter "inane in every respect."

The New Yorker asserted, however, he would continue to press for the investigation although he expressed doubt the resolution would get beyond the house rules committee.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast and Geodetic Survey is trying to chart its way around an art temper involving the work of its onetime employee—Whistler, the painter.

Here's the log of the trouble: Back in 1954 a gangling youth of 20 named James Abbot McNeil Whistler was doing engravings for the government agency.

His work was map-making, but he had a hard time confining himself to its rigid restrictions. He kept throwing in impudent sketches of fish and birds.

Exacting officials, provoked with his decorations, advised him that the United States government would try to get along without him.

Whistler went his way to become a world-famous painter. The survey went its way with a couple of Whistler engravings. Eighty-three years went their way.

Last spring someone erroneously spread the word that the agency was selling original Whistler engravings for 20 cents.

Requests poured in.

The survey workers replied by sending a map of Anacapa Island in South Santa Barbara channel, Calif., in one corner it says: "Eng. by J. A. Whistler, J. Young & C. A. Knight."

Complaints also poured in. The map wasn't an original.

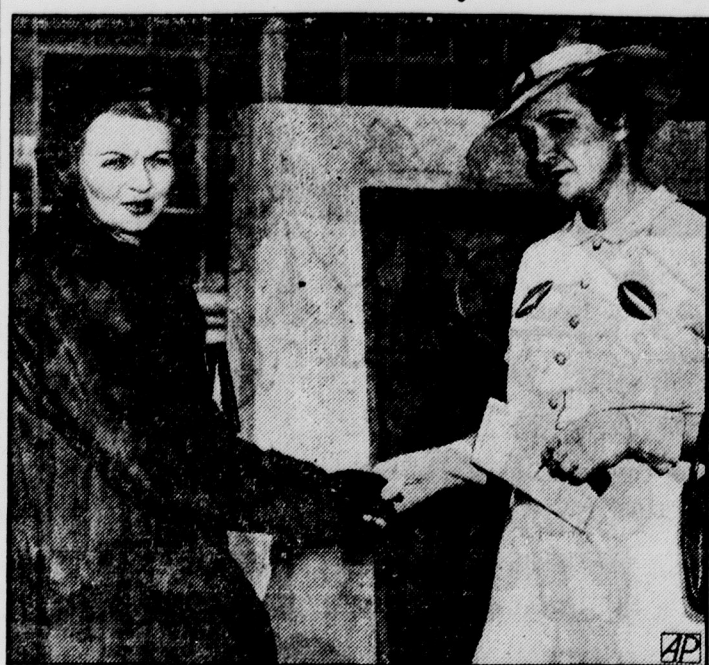

Now the government, which never said it had an original, has issued a 307-word letter explaining:

"The first plate isn't available. The maps are from photographic prints of the plate.

"And you can have your money back if you want it.

The map, incidentally, is a pretty one, and you can see Whistler's prank—two saucy groups of sea gulls where no saucy gulls ought to be.

WORLD-WIDE TAX EVASION DRIVE SLATED

Information Exchange Treaties Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, told the house ways and means committee today the government was exploring the possibility of international efforts to prevent tax evasion and evasion. He testified when the committee opened hearings on proposals for exchange of tax information. Canada has expressed willingness to undertake treaty negotiations, he said.

In cooperation with the treasury, Magill said, the state department has discussed with several countries the formulation of treaties for exchange of tax information. Canada has expressed willingness to undertake treaty negotiations, he said.

Magill assured the committee the treasury concurred in the recommendations of the joint tax committee. He said that if they could be put into effect they not only would revenue be improved but the "basic purpose of taxation in accordance with ability to pay" would be "better effectuated."

The recommendations were for more drastic tax treatment of domestic and foreign personal holding companies, incorporated yachts, country estates and personal talents, multiple trusts, non-resident aliens, and artificial deductions for interest and business expense and for losses from sales of exchange of property.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Coast and Geodetic Survey is trying to chart its way around an art temper involving the work of its onetime employee—Whistler, the painter.

Here's the log of the trouble: Back in 1954 a gangling youth of 20 named James Abbot McNeil Whistler was doing engravings for the government agency.

His work was map-making, but he had a hard time confining himself to its rigid restrictions. He kept throwing in impudent sketches of fish and birds.

Exacting officials, provoked with his decorations, advised him that the United States government would try to get along without him.

Whistler went his way to become a world-famous painter. The survey went its way with a couple of Whistler engravings. Eighty-three years went their way.

Last spring someone erroneously spread the word that the agency was selling original Whistler engravings for 20 cents.

Requests poured in.

The survey workers replied by sending a map of Anacapa Island in South Santa Barbara channel, Calif., in one corner it says: "Eng. by J. A. Whistler, J. Young & C. A. Knight."

Complaints also poured in. The map wasn't an original.

Now the government, which never said it had an original, has issued a 307-word letter explaining:

"The first plate isn't available. The maps are from photographic prints of the plate.

"And you can have your money back if you want it.

The map, incidentally, is a pretty one, and you can see Whistler's prank—two saucy groups of sea gulls where no saucy gulls ought to be.

PAST-DUE TAX PENALTY CUT

"We're holding our annual August clearance sale of taxes," said County Auditor W. T. Lambert announced today.

The "sale" is for the month of August only. Any delinquent taxes except when those of the past year are the only delinquencies, may be paid in full without interest, but not later than Sept. 1. Where installment payments have been made on delinquent taxes, interest already collected will be allowed as payment on taxes, Lambert said.

He urged all persons who are likely to pay taxes in full this month to write immediately for estimates of the amounts due in order to avoid the last-minute rush.

Under provisions of a new assembly bill, delinquent taxes of all years except 1936-37 may be paid in installments. These are one-tenth or more, with interest on the total from July 1, 1936, as the first payment. Accounts may be opened at any time up to and including April 20 of next year. The latter are payable to the tax collector, but installments on delinquent taxes are payable to the auditor.

THREE BOOKED ON RUM COUNTS

Three persons were booked in the county jail for drunkenness and drunk driving over the weekend, records at the jail showed today.

Rosendo Valladolid, 24, 1707 W. Fourth street; Roberto Gutierrez, 26, 727 E. Twelfth street; Los Angeles; and Gilbert Peralta, 50, El Modena, were those taken into custody.

A 19-year-old Mexican, Antonio Lozano, was arrested by immigration officers and booked in the county jail yesterday on charges of illegal entry. Lozano said his home was in Zacatecas, Mexico.

James A. Felner, 82, 825 South Claudina, Anaheim, was jailed on a superior court bench warrant for non-support. He was jailed Friday.

Charged with petty theft, John Bender, 36, Yorba Linda, was booked in the county jail Friday.

Check Suspect Returned Here

Mrs. Mildred Maynard, wanted in Riverside on the coast, was brought to Santa Ana by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard and booked in the county jail for issuing fictitious checks.

She will be arraigned in justice court this afternoon, according to Chief Howard. Howard returned Mrs. Maynard from Seattle, after she had been arrested in the northern city.

Her husband, Louis Maynard, 24, is now serving a jail term in Fresno on check charges. He will finish the term Aug. 13.

Authorities in San Diego, Ventura, San Bernardino, Fresno, and several other cities have been seeking the woman.

FIVE DIE IN LAKE TRAGEDY

CHICAGO (AP)—Five persons were drowned yesterday in two boating accidents on Crystal Lake, northwest of here.

Michael Kastrzycki, 40, lost his life when he made a heroic attempt to save his two sons, Michael, Jr., 10 and Edward, 6, after their rowboat, containing nine persons, capsized in 50 feet of water.

Louis Siegel, who was in the same boat, made a futile effort to save his daughter, Irma, 11. The child struggled from his grasp and drowned. The father swam ashore with another daughter, Bernice, 13.

The party had gone to the lake for a picnic.

While lifeguards were attempting to recover the bodies, Morris Homel, 45, Chicago, was drowned when his boat capsized on the opposite side of the lake.

Venireman Wants Job on Jury

Hugo Els, convicted by a superior court jury last week on check charges, went on trial before another jury today on car theft charges, with at least one man anxious to get into the jury box.

"What is your occupation?" asked an attorney of Samuel Haffley, member of the jury panel.

"I wish I had one," replied Haffley.

Els was arrested here last month on charges of stealing a car from the Townsend Motor company, and his record revealed he was wanted on the check charge, which was two years old.

60,000 SILK WORKERS GET STRIKE ORDER

Industry 50 Per Cent Disabled In East

PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—A C.I.O. strike call to 60,000 silk workers in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New England and New York caused thousands of men and women to leave their looms today in an announced effort to secure union contracts to improve labor conditions and stabilize the industry.

The only disorder reported along the wide front was at Hazelton, Pa., where a picket at the large Duplan Silk Corporation mill was stabbed in the arm. His alleged assailant was arrested after being almost mobbed by the crowd which gathered.

Earlier four sheriff's deputies were sent from Wilkes-Barre to aid nine city policemen on duty. The Duplan management said pickets, some of whom were recruited from the ranks of anthracite mine workers, jammed so tightly about the gates that some of the 1100 workers who pushed through the lines emerged with torn clothing.

Representatives of the union and employees disagreed as to the extent of the strike in Pennsylvania, where more than 40,000 normally work in the silk and rayon industry, but New Jersey spokesmen for both sides agreed the walkout was "successful."

Reuben Bloch, regional T. W. O. C. director for Pennsylvania, said reports from 14 district offices in the state to union headquarters at Allentown indicated at least 30 per cent of the workers were out, but E. W. Walter, spokesman for Allentown manufacturers, estimated the strike there was only about 50 per cent effective.

C. I. O. HERE HIT BY VANDELEUR

Attempts of the CIO to organize agricultural workers in Orange county were branded as Communist by Edward D. Vandeleur, secretary of the California State Federation of Labor, in an open letter to cannery and field workers.

The Communist-CIO combine, frustrated in an attempt to control 60,000 California cannery workers, now is attempting to move in on agricultural field workers and stop the flow of crops to the canneries, it was charged by Vandeleur.

Here in Orange county the agricultural workers' union formerly connected with the A. F. of L., broke away from that organization and went CIO. Immediately the A. F. of L. launched an intensive program to organize agricultural workers in its own union.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, told the house ways and means committee today the government was exploring the possibility of international efforts to prevent tax evasion and evasion. He testified when the committee opened hearings on proposals for exchange of tax information. Canada has expressed willingness to undertake treaty negotiations, he said.

Battle Tomorrow On School Fund

Arthur Corey, assistant county superintendent of schools, will enter the lists tomorrow with Supervisor John Mitchell. The two officials will joust over proposed transferring of $200,000 in county money to carry schools through the "dry period" until school taxes come in.

Mitchell has objected strenuously to schools' getting the county money as a loan, saying the school districts should provide for maintenance with their own funds. The county, he maintains, needs the money as badly as the school districts.

Corey will submit a complete financial statement on county school districts in the absence of his chief, Ray Adkinson, on a vacation. Supervisors must, under state law, transfer funds for school maintenance if they are not needed by the county for immediate use.

Burglary Suspect Confesses Guilt

In a surprise move, Clarence Rurup of Santa Ana today was brought into Superior Judge G. K. Scovel's court and entered a plea of guilty to a burglary charge. He asked for probation and will have a hearing Aug. 13.

Rurup had been scheduled to go to trial before a jury tomorrow, and his wife, Marion, was awaiting a probation hearing Friday on the same charge. They were accused of entering a Chinese home and stealing a watch and several trinkets.

Farm Extension Service Here Valued at $2,300,500 Per Year

Translated into dollars and cents, services of the University of California's agricultural extension service have been worth the astounding total of $2,330,500 to Orange county every year.

This figure was announced today in an article in the Farm Bureau News, published in honor of the twentieth anniversary of the establishment of the extension service in this county. Harold E. Wahlberg, well-known authority on agriculture, has served this county as farm advisor within a few months of the entire 20 years of the history of the extension service in this county.

Seeking an evaluation of the work and influence of the extension program in Orange county, an appraisal committee was sent here by the University of California and the United States Department of Agriculture to interview representative farm owners and operators and obtain their general observations and estimated values of farm practices that have been changed or influenced by the extension program.

The scope of extension demonstrations and its other activities were found to cover the major problems of the farm and the farm home and the rural community. By the end of 1936, 2174 demonstration meetings had been held by the extension service in this county. Extension officials had participated in 8924 meetings dealing with rural problems and projects during that period. There were a total of 28,910 farm calls made by the staff upon request, and there were 76,265 calls made at the office.

VALUES ITEMIZED
Just how the University of California committee, headed by L. W. Fluharty, agricultural economist, conservatively estimated the benefits of the service to this county is shown in the following table:

Practice	Conservative Estimate	Actual
Conservative irrigation	$ 250,000	360,000
Less cultivation	180,000	150,000
Cover crops	150,000	300,000
Windbreak protection	50,000	300,000
Moderate pruning	300,000	400,000
Simple fertilization	375,000	50,000
Poultry culling	50,000	58,000
Poultry disease control	58,000	39,000
Dairy feeds	39,000	60,000
Dairy culling	60,000	25,000
Better breeding	25,000	30,000
Field crops	30,000	150,000
Soil conservation	150,000	4,000
4-H Club profits	4,000	2,330,500

"Thus," the report from the committee said, "it is seen that Orange county's agriculture has largely recognized the economic value of this service as reflected in the wide adoption of field recommendations based on scientific research, study and observation by the University of California experiment, extension and teaching staffs. But the greatest value is not represented in the above table of dollars and cents. The human, social and community values coming out of a satisfactory and profitable farm living are the lasting values effected by this cooperative endeavor."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury, told the house ways and means committee today the government was exploring the possibility of international efforts to prevent tax evasion and evasion. He testified when the committee opened hearings on proposals for exchange of tax information. Canada has expressed willingness to undertake treaty negotiations, he said.

Crusader Rally Here Postponed

Plans for a gigantic crusader rally, originally slated for Sept. 6 in Santa Ana, have been changed. The Rev. W. C. Parham, Four-square Gospel pastor here, announced today. The rally probably will be held in November, he said.

Change in the date was made necessary by conflicting Four-square meetings, he said. The Golden State convention will be held in Angelus Temple Sept. 1, 2 and 3 and the annual Four-square roundup has been slated for Sept. 6, the Rev. Giles N. Knight, vice president of the international church informed the local pastor.

Definite date for the rally here will be set following the annual meeting of the Missionary cabinet in October.

TERRORISTS BLAMED IN L.A. BOMBINGS

Blasts Peril Homes Of 2 Optical Workers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two abortive attempts to bomb the homes of employees of the American Optical company were attributed by police today to labor terrorists.

A crudely made bomb, cast on the porch of T. E. Sheppard's residence from a passing sedan, was thrown into the yard by another tenant, E. F. Boerdick, before it exploded. The ensuing detonation was heard a mile away yesterday.

Another bomb, aimed at C. E. Hellman's home, was intercepted by his private guard, C. E. Williams, who tossed it back into the street. It exploded harmlessly.

Williams said he fired one shot at a fleeing sedan. Hellman told detectives a carload of hoodlums broke the windows of his house on July 26.

Demands for a closed shop have been made on the American Optical company, detectives were informed.

There are approximately 47,500 licensed amateur radio operators in the United States.

PARIS WARNS REBEL FLYERS

PARIS (AP)—France protested to the insurgent Spanish government today over the machine gunning of a French steamer and warned Francisco Franco that planes and gunboats would guard her Mediterranean lifeline with quick fire hereafter.

Despite insurgent denials, French authorities said they had established definitely that insurgent planes attacked the Djebel Amour off Algeria last Friday. Ships of Britain and Italy were simultaneously attacked.

The protest was delivered by courier to Salamanca, the insurgent "capital," from Jean Herbelin, French ambassador to Spain who now is at St. Jean-de-Luz, France.

It said French gunboats and planes hereafter would convoy French merchantmen in the Mediterranean and that they would fire forthwith on any attacker.

Seeks $3000 for Injury in Fight

Ruby H. Tabb today asked $3000 damages for injuries assertedly sustained Aug. 1 in a scuffle with Della A. Fry and Bert E. Fry at Laguna Beach.

The plaintiff alleged she sustained contusions on her body and severe shock to her nervous system. She asks $2000 for her injuries and $1000 punitive damages.

10,000 ATTEND LEGION PARLEY

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Almost 10,000 World war veterans, 2400 of them registered delegates, were here for the opening today of the 19th annual convention of the California state department of the American Legion.

Business sessions were called for this morning to be followed by a parade of 6000 veterans in the afternoon and drill team contests in the evening. The convention will last through Wednesday.

The resolutions committee, meeting yesterday, drafted tentative resolutions opposing relaxation of present bars against immigration, and assailing communism and subversive movements. Another resolution would limit the powers of the department executive committee.

COUNTY TAX VALUES RISE

There will be more taxable value in large county this year whether or not the 1937-38 fiscal year assessment of assessed valuation of the Seal Beach electrical generating plant is decided adversely to local governments.

Such was the report today of County Assessor James Sleeper, in revealing that the 1937-38 fiscal year assessment roll is $189,675,000, or $2,994,000 higher than that of 1936-37.

Upon this assessment will be placed a new high tax rate of about 85 cents per $100 inside cities and 90 cents in unincorporated areas by the board of supervisors, to finance a budget which will be only slightly less than $4,000,000.

Sleeper's report shows the net worth of the county's rural districts leads that of the 13 municipalities. The rural districts show a valuation of $85,550,150, he said, including $91,106,920 in common property and $7,443,230 in public utilities. The 13 cities show net worth of $91,124,850 on the assessment roll, including $84,325,420 in common property and $6,799,430 in public utilities.

Intangibles, upon which special taxes are levied and collected for various districts, are listed in value at $3,226,740.

Sleeper explained that the Los Angeles bureau of power and light's battle to lop off more than $2,000,000 worth of assessments the county has levied against the Seal Beach plant, formerly owned by a private corporation, would have an important but not vital bearing on the county tax rolls this year. If decided adversely, the county still would have almost $1,000,000 more assessed valuation than last year, he explained.

BOARD OF M. C. CLUB MEETS

MIDWAY CITY. — The midsummer meeting of executive board members of the Woman's club was held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Hensley, when ten plans for the club year were discussed.

Members decided to hold one meeting a month instead of two, and the second Thursday of each month named as the regular meeting day. A covered-dish luncheon will open the club year in September, with the county president, Mrs. Marion Miller, Huntington Beach, as a special guest.

The president, Mrs. Dale Braybrooks, presided at the meeting, which was attended by Mrs. Bert Heath, Mrs. Robert Lowery, Mrs. William Fraser, Mrs. Marcus Jungmann, Mrs. J. L. Esser, Mrs. Georgia Day Robertson, Mrs. B. L. Kirkham and Mrs. Russell I. Johnson.

REBELS CAPTURE MEXICAN TOWN — VERACRUZ, Mexico. (AP) — Sixty armed men where reported to have captured the municipal building of Veracruz, Mexico, and to have imprisoned Mayor Arturo Cotoleche Saturday.

A new municipal council was appointed by the raiders, according to dispatches from the town. Federal troops were sent to deliver the mayor and restore order.

DRIVE OPENED TO MOVE STATE'S HUGE TOMATO SURPLUS — SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — A controversy arising in trade and industry circles over necessity for a retail drive to move the carry-over of canned tomatoes and improve the outlook for selling the 1937 pack came to light today.

The California canning tomato stabilization committee had appealed to food chain stores to aid in moving the carry-over they estimated at "more than 1,000,000 cases."

Challenged by packers whose names were withheld to give the precise carry-over, the committee produced records of the Canners

Third Entry Complicates Laguna Art Association Race

LAGUNA BEACH. — A heated political battle in the Laguna Beach Art association's election of officers loomed today as a third candidate — Donald Button of Santa Ana — announced that he was tossing his hat into the ring as a sticker candidate.

Button will run against Wesley Wall and Roy Rupp, regular nominees. In declaring his candidacy he listed the following as his selections for the board of directors: Ted Cook, first vice president; Milford Zornes, second vice president; Virginia Woolley, secretary; Grant Plumb, treasurer, and Ivan Bartlett, Dan Dickey, Elsie Pomeroy and Ruth Peabody as board members.

BIRTHS, DEATHS, EVEN ACCOUNTS — ANAHEIM. — Life and death evened the score in Anaheim last month.

There were eight births, and there were eight deaths. But in Anaheim township, the stark won a victory, bringing eleven babies, while the Grim Reaper took five persons.

So did vital statistics records of City Clerk Charles Griffith reveal today. He said that during the year to date, there were 62 births and 54 deaths in the city of Anaheim and 76 births and 58 deaths in the township.

Babe, Oldest Elephant, III — WASHINGTON. (AP) — Babe, reputed to be 99 and the oldest elephant in captivity, is keeping to her bed at the National Zoo. Attendees say death may be near.

She fell yesterday while backing from her quarters into the elephant plot, and couldn't get up. A block and tackle moved her 8500 pounds to a bed of straw.

Keepers said there was nothing the matter except her age. Babe toured with the Barnum and Bailey circus for 50 years before coming to the zoo three years ago.

Party Honors James Hamner — YORBA LINDA. — A group of schoolmates surprised James Hamner at his home Thursday evening on his 40th birthday anniversary.

Present were Deryth Chapman, Patricia Hoben, Edithmae Gallant, Barbara Vernon, Charity Ann Murray, Bonnie LeBrecht, Herman Anderson, Jr., Wendell Marshburn, Frederick Seifert, Bernard Couch and Leonard Doyle.

Costa Mesa Auto Court Is Sold — COSTA MESA. — The LaMar court of Newport boulevard was sold this week to Mr. and Mrs. A. Simon of Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis, the former owners, will remain in Costa Mesa indefinitely, managing the business until Mr. and Mrs. Simon take possession, soon, it is reported. Mr. Simon is a druggist in Orange.

W. C. T. U. Will Elect Officers — EL MODENA. — Election of officers will feature a meeting of the W.C.T.U. to be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Winters, at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A program of readings and music has been arranged.

ATTEND MEETING — COSTA MESA. — Residents of Costa Mesa attending the County Federation board meeting in Huntington Beach Thursday were Mesdames C. G. Huston, C. A. Custer, Alex Olson and Miss Alice Plumer.

The Huntington Beach Woman's club was hostess to the county club boards, with Mrs. R. G. Miller presiding.

LIGHT PARADE PLANS TOLD

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Important changes in plans for the annual Tournament of Lights here Aug. 21 were made by officials of the tournament association over the week-end, with plans announced for changing the theme from "Youth" to "Youth of the World."

With the change making the spectacular water fete international in scope, assistance of many foreign consulates and societies has been asked in preparing plans for the five-mile night parade. Great Britain will be represented with the decorated cruiser Nancy Lou, owned by H. B. Grandin. Major Lang's schooner Skidbladnir will represent Argentina and Clifford Burton's cutter will represent Belgium, officials said today.

A Japanese float will be entered by members of the Japan-American Citizens' League, with Dr. M. Hori in charge and a Hungarian float is being prepared by Mrs. Emil J. Fellegi of Los Angeles. The German-American Alliance, headed by Dr. H. A. Gebhart, Los Angeles, will enter a float for Germany. France and Chile will be represented by local yachtsmen and Samoa's float showing natives also is planned.

Members of the Mexican Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles, will enter a float for their country, and many other international entries are planned.

The water parade will follow the same course as last year, officials have decided, and the tournament may be viewed from the Balboa peninsula from the Newport Harbor Yacht club nearly to the jetty, from Balboa Island and from Lido Isle.

SAN JUAN WPA PROJECT STARTS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO. — Manager Dan Mulholland of the Works Progress Administration today announced the start of a $11,542 job at San Juan Capistrano scheduled for Wednesday, with 73 men to be given work.

Improvement of Granada drive at the Mission City will require two months, for resurfacing, widening, and other work. The Federal government will supply $8644 of the total cost, and the county the remainder.

ORANGE DOG WINS HONORS

ORANGE. — "Wulee Brilliantine," 23-month old chow dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil J. A. Maibach of Orange today became Orange county's first chow champion.

The local animal, pride of county fanciers, won five points at the show at Torrance yesterday, giving him a total of 18 points during the past year, three more than were needed to become a champion.

"Wulee's" performance was remarkable in the fact that the championship was obtained at such an early age, most dogs starting their competition after the age of two years. Maibach is composing room foreman for the Orange Daily News.

Editor Leaves On Vacation — COSTA MESA. — Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Murbarger left Friday morning for a two weeks' vacation trip to Baja, California.

They will make Ensenada their headquarters, and will take shorter trips to places of interest such as the famous Hamilton ranch, several miles farther south. Mrs. Murbarger is editor of the Globe-Herald here and he is an employee of Bower's museum in Santa Ana.

BALBOA'S ARMY AND NAVY FIND LITTLE TROUBLE ON BAY

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — Balboa's new anti-swimming law, which prohibits bathers from using certain portions of the bay after midnight, so that residents may sleep, is causing the police lots of trouble.

Almost nightly raids are made by overworked patrolmen. They answer calls to the closed area, and usually are defied by swimmers, who refuse to come ashore to be arrested. A few nights ago they picked up a large quantity of clothing and held it at the jail, but had to hand it back without any arrests when two girls came to claim the assorted apparel. They couldn't prove anything.

However, Patrolmen Gorton and Callahan have decided to have some fun out of the situation. Here is their report from the latest chase after swimmers:

"Mustered in Caldwell and the speedboat. Advanced on enemy from land and water. Result of attack: found one boy and one girl in bathing attire sitting quietly on beach. No disturbance when army and navy arrived. Mustered out army and navy for time being."

Y. L. RESIDENT IS HONORED — YORBA LINDA. — Mrs. L. A. Hile, assisted by Mrs. W. G. Cannon and Mrs. Roy Pritchard, entertained Friday evening at the Hile home with a shower honoring Mrs. Barney Blankmeyer (Louise Gilman).

Prizes for games were awarded to Mesdames Kenneth Loucks, John L. Cox, William H. Bates and Miss Gladys Palminter.

Guests were Mrs. D. Blankmeyer, Miss Adele Hennig and Miss Gladys Palminter of Orange; Mrs. George Enrie, Mrs. Harold C. and Mrs. John Hushman of Anaheim; Mrs. Gertrude Creclat, Mrs. Grover Hermes and Mrs. Ernest Meredith of Fullerton; Mrs. James Niles, Lancaster; Mrs. Charles Schwan, San Fernando; Mrs. Roy Knight, Fellows; Mrs. Lulu Morris, Escondido; Mrs. Keith Cannon, Placentia; Mrs. Paul Ellis, Southgate and Mrs. Sam Gilman, Mrs. Louis Gilman, Mrs. Fred Clode, Mrs. John Johnson, Mrs. C. KIMMELL TO BE ON AIR

LAGUNA BEACH. — Attorney Leslie Kimmell, president of the Orange County Coast association and prominent Orange county civic leader, will discuss "Accident Prevention" in a radio address over KECA Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Kimmell is to talk under auspices of the California Safety council, of which he is an officer, according to Franklin Lowney, managing director of the statewide safety organization, which is headed by Col. William May Garland of Los Angeles.

ORANGE UNION SERVICE TOLD

ORANGE. — Union church services were conducted by young people of the community Sunday night at the Methodist church.

Arrangements were in charge of Sam Stimple, and featured talks by Arthur Hobson, Jr., Dorothy Gray, Helen Moore, Mac Holder and Bob Clifford. A choir made up of young people from various churches furnished the music.

Later the young folks of the Christian church were hosts at a party in the Christian church parlors. A large group attended. Miss June Winget is president of the interdenominational young people's fellowship.

Pair Wed In San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE. — Jan Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ida H. Decker of San Diego, and Andreas Atherton, Beverly Hills real estate broker, were honeymooning in San Francisco today after their marriage here Saturday.

BROADWAY SIREN — LOLA LARKIN. English star in a Broadway revue, loves Senator Balboa's son, Winfield, who wants to marry her. But Senator Balboa goes to a friend, a clever woman lawyer named Martha Carter, and retains her to prevent such a seeming messianic marriage. When Martha finds out about her husband and Lola Larkin, she goes to Martha and tells her to bribe the Larkin girl never to see Standish again. She gives Martha a check for $10,000 with which to buy off Lola.

CHAPTER XIII — MARTHA CARTER stared at the check for $10,000, made out to Lola Larkin. Even to a successful young woman lawyer, that was a lot of money. Martha knew, however, that Cora Standish had inherited millions and could well afford it.

She dared not make Cora feel worse by telling her exactly what she thought—that any woman who would waste that amount of money on even the best man on earth was a plain unmitigated fool.

"Take it, Martha," Cora urged, "say 'drop everything and go and find Lola Larkin. I'll never know another happy minute until you buy the little wretch's promise never to see Norman again.'"

"Very well, Cora," Martha promised reluctantly. Perhaps it would help matters, after all she thought. At least she would have earned the big fee Cora offered. As for the Balboas, she would cross that bridge a little later.

"Now, my dear," Martha said, "you make another trip to the beauty parlor. Look your best and if you want to be happy, never let that philandering husband of yours suspect that you ever heard of Lola Larkin."

"I suppose you are right, Martha. You always are right." Cora again made Martha promise to find Lola Larkin and buy her off. She departed, feeling quite hopeful.

WITH Martha Carter, a promise was a promise. She decided to call on Lola at her apartment. To give her an excuse she got out Lola's contract that she had been asked to pass on, and took it with her.

But Martha was out of luck. Lola had left her apartment a half hour before Martha arrived. Imogene, she said, said she did not know where Miss Larkin could be found.

"Who shall I say called?" Imogene asked, not quite like to classify this trim, business-like woman in the smartly tailored and somewhat mannish dress.

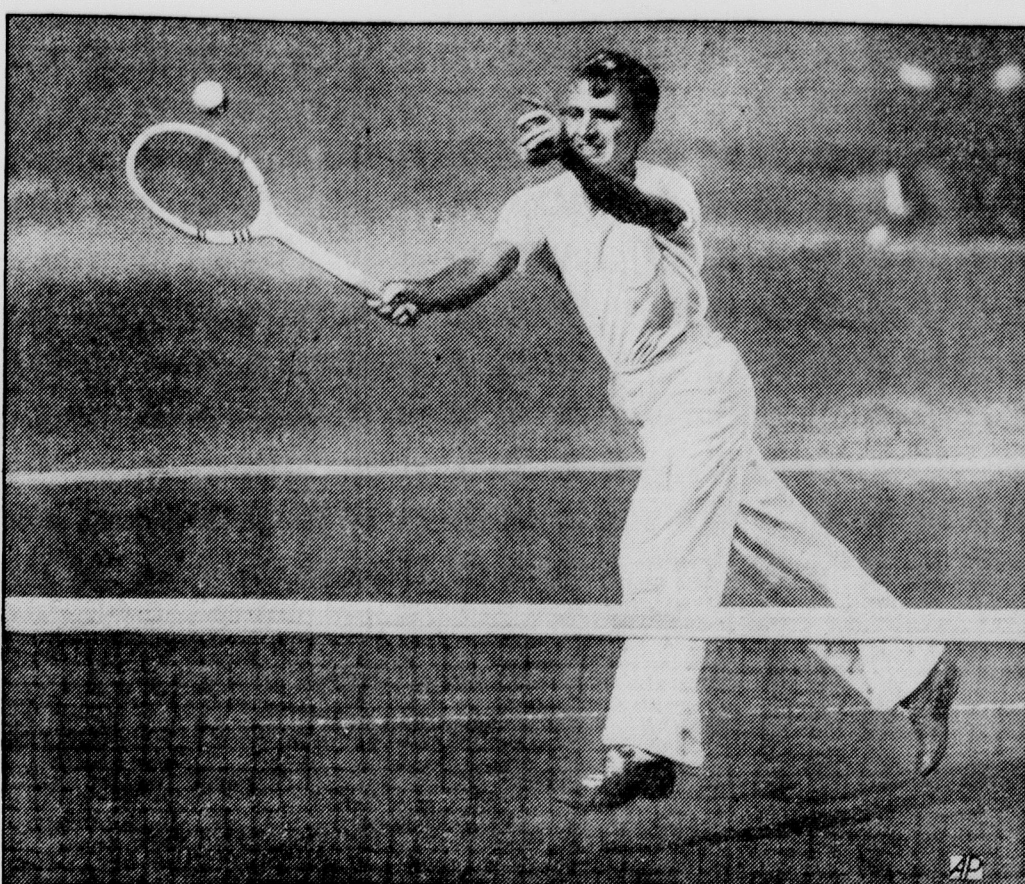

"It doesn't matter I'll see her later," Martha said.

On the way back to her office, she stopped at the Waldrit to get certain magazines that were saved for her, through an arrangement with the man at the newsstand.

HEAD MAN.
Don Budge, California red-head, heads the American Davis cup team to the challenge round against England. As a doubles partner of Gene Mako and the singles victor over Henkel and von Cramm, he contributed most to the interzone victory over Germany.

LITTLE GIANT.
Bryan M. "Bitsy" Grant, tiny Atlantan and the eternal surprise of American tennis, is a member of the American Davis cup challenge team. In the German matches he lost to Henkel and von Cramm. The Americans are favored to win back the international trophy lost to the French at Germantown, Pennsylvania, in 1927.

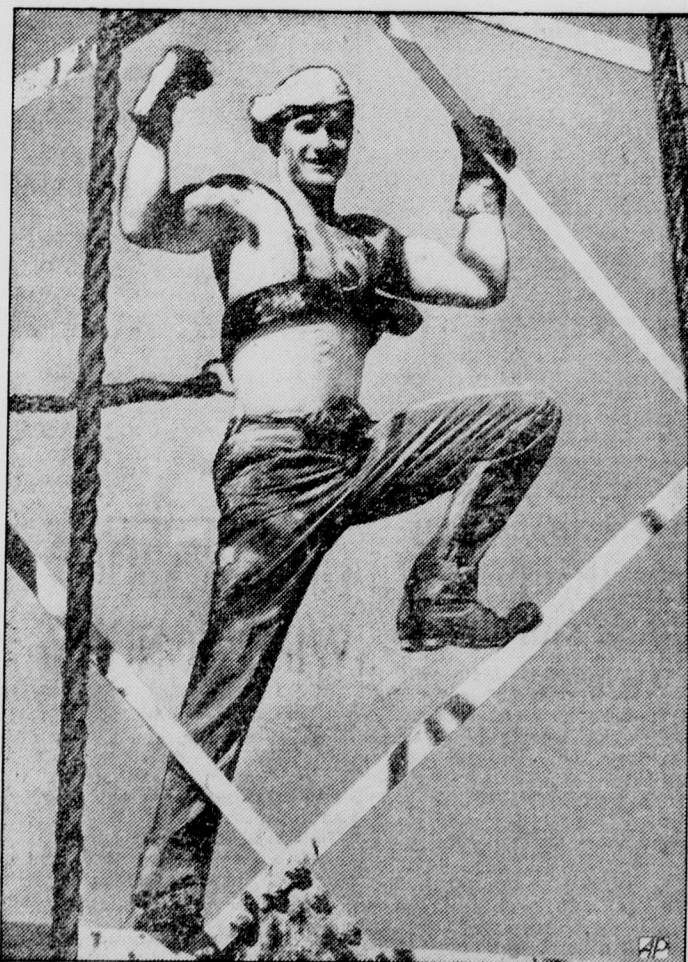

PARKER.
Frank Parker, an outstanding performer, also may draw an important singles berth in the Davis cup challenge.

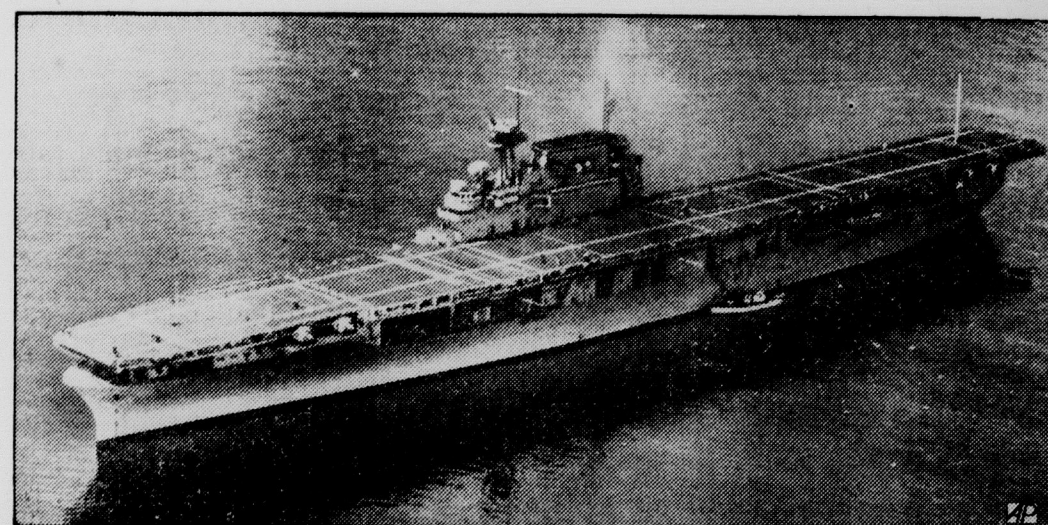

SAVED THE DAY.
Gene Mako, teamed with his fellow-Californian, Don Budge, in the interzone Davis cup doubles play with Germany, was credited with the most spectacular performance. His sharp, overhead returns featured this victorious match.

PAGING THE DUCE. This is the start of a call on Mussolini by George Lansbury, British laborite. He said Il Duce "made no bones" about Italian intervention in Spain to help the insurgents, and that he had a "great argument" with Mussolini who defended this course with the assertion that Italians were fighting against atheistic bolshevism.

SKY SCRIMMAGE. In the summer time the yards to go for Joe Routt are vertical. The 190-pound all-American guard from Texas Aggies gets in trim by building derricks in the oil fields near Brenham, Tex. Here he flexes the old right arm as he claims to be "Texas' toughest."

FLOATING WAR BASE. Here's the newest sea-going nest for Uncle Sam's navy warbirds—the aircraft carrier Yorktown which was undergoing tests at Rockland, Me. The big boat has a displacement of 19,900 tons; carries a dozen 5-inch anti-aircraft guns; is manned by 2,072 men including fliers, and can do 34 knots. It's the last word, at the moment, in aircraft carriers.

Fans Clamor for Yank-Cub Series

Giants Threaten Chicago; Boston Red Sox Win Streak Snapped at 13 Games

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

All over the baseball map they're climbing aboard the bandwagon for a Yankee-Cub World series this fall, and the way things shape up now that's not a bad guess.

A lot of applicants can be up-set in the 19 weeks still to go before they start commuting between New York and Chicago for their peanuts, hot dogs and homers, particularly in that National league race, but at the current pace of the Cubs and Yankees it's going to be tough to turn the trick.

The Boston Red Sox, in second place at the moment, stretched their undefeated run to 13 games by taking the White Sox, 7-6, in their opener, but then had the string snapped with a 13-0 walloping in the nightcap.

Ducky Medwick belted two home runs in the first game and the Cards took a 3-2 decision from the Phillies, but the best they could get was a 6-all draw in the nightcap, despite Ducky Wuck's third round-tripper of the day. The Reds and Dodgers also went to a nightcap deadlock, at one-all, after the Reds won, 6-4, in the curtain raiser.

The Tigers topped the Senators, 5-1, in a game cut to five frames by rain. The Athletics surprised with a double triumph over the St. Louis Browns, 5-4 and 7-3.

As usual, the standard possibility to kick over the dope bucket are those New York Giants. For one thing, they always have that annoying habit of riding along within shooting distance of the top until the final weeks, and then belting the ears off everybody in sight in a Frank Merriwell finish. For another thing, their pitchers, who were collapsing at the rate of one a day less than three-hitter game lead and been given that shot in the arm again and once more are doing business at the same old stand.

As a result, it's not going to be any too much of a dead clinch for the Cubs, at best, despite their current six-game lead and what probably shapes up as the best balanced outfit in the loop. They knocked off Boston's Bees in both ends of a doubleheader yesterday, 3-0 and 3-2, on a one-hit pitching performance by Tex Carleton in the opener and a clouting comeback by Phil Cavarretta in both games. But there's always the ever-present chance, so far as the Cubs are concerned, that the batting slump bug will bite 'em if they don't watch out—and then where'll they be?

The double win boosted the Cubs' lead by half a game, since the Giants could get no better than an even break with their favorite "stooges," the Pirates. They won the opener, 10-2, but Jim Weaver's three-hitter defeated them, 3-0, in the nightcap.

It's far easier to settle the American league business in advance. Nine and a half games in front, despite a pitching staff that's as full of holes as a bagful of doughnuts, the Yankees look like a shoo-in from here.

YANKS SHADE CLEVELAND With their deadly hitting, which mixed match between LeMon and Lutz.

That time-worn saying, "You can't get something for nothing," doesn't hold true in softball here either. The Santa Ana City league offers entertaining doubleheaders every Monday and Thursday nights at the Municipal bowl, at no expense to the fans... Drop around tonight and see if you don't agree.

Games Tonight
7:30—M. E. Church vs. Grand Central Market.
8:30—Montgomery Ward vs. Elks.

Montgomery Ward's mighty softball collection, coached by towering Walt Jordan, can breeze in with the Santa Ana City league softball championship—both rounds—at the Municipal Bowl tonight.

All the department store nine must do—and it looks like a man-sized assignment—is to defeat Kenneth Miller's threatening Elks, solid contenders who have dropped only one game while winning five in the second half. The feature attraction is billed for 8:30, and as usual, will be offered free to all fans.

The "curtain-raiser" will pit M. E. South's Mustangs against Larry Owen's Grand Central Market nine at 7:30.

Jordan will send himself to the mound for Ward's tonight, with First-baseman Gene Hitt in reserve. Ed Cox and Leo Andreason will toss 'em over for the Sycamore street dogmen.

Ward's club hopes to sweep both halves of the City league and win a clear right to represent Santa Ana in The Examiner's annual Southern California tournament in Los Angeles next month. Jordan's powerful assemblage consists of Jim Wendell, leading man at shortstop; Warren (Whitey) Mann, lf.; Maurice Young, 3b; Rod Smiley, cf.; Bob McPhee, 2b; Louie Collins, c; Charles Newsome, rf; Gene Hitt, 1b, and Jordan himself, pitcher.

SPORT SLANTS By TOM (FAP) FAPROCKI

The thunder of Joe DiMaggio's big bat and Lou Gehrig's march along his consecutive-game route just about drown out any cheers that might be tossed in the direction of lesser lights of the New York Yankees.

No one ever thinks of the Yankees in terms of defense. Perhaps that is the reason why Red Rolfe has been so completely overlooked this summer. Outside of the little splash he made in helping the American leaguers down the National team in the annual all-star contest, little mention has been made of the excellent job the red-headed Dartmouth alumnus is doing at the hot corner for the Yankees.

While DiMaggio, Gehrig & Co. are mauling opposing pitchers, Rolfe throws up a formidable defense on the left side of the diamond and daily contributes his share of spectacular plays to keep the opposition from scoring.

He topped all American league third basemen in fielding last season with an average of .557. He did better than fair at the plate with a mark of .314. He won recognition when selected to cover third in the annual inter-league all-star contest. His triple in the fourth inning scored a pair of runs, ruined Carl Hubbell's afternoon and just about settled the issue in favor of the American leaguers.

MILE RECORD IN TROTTERING IS ON BLOCK

Manning's 1:56 3/4 Is Goal of Greyhound On New York Track

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—The grand circuit meeting, topped by trotting's greatest race, the 12th Hambletonian stakes, Wednesday, and embellished by Greyhound's attempt to break Peter Manning's mile record, tomorrow, will again make Goshen the capital of the "trotting" world, this week.

In an atmosphere redolent of the gay nineties, followers of the sport will crowd Good Time park's sprawling grandstand and wander over the big course during the week of racing, which yearly gives "buggy whip" derby fans their biggest sports thrill.

Greyhound's special race against time will share opening day honors tomorrow with the Good Time stake, a race which will include the best of the week. There will be the Hollywood stakes, an event which attracts top flight three-year olds not eligible for the Hambletonian.

Peter Manning's mile record is 1:56 3/4, set in 1922. The big grey gelding owned by E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill., has done 1:57 1/4 for the mile and early this season broke the half-mile track record with a time of 1:59 1/4. Many think Greyhound can break the mark, held in veneration by trotting fans for 15 years.

But to the shirt-sleeved followers of the circuit, the big five-year-old will be merely a pleasant preliminary to the real business of the meeting, the Hambletonian. This race, named for a notable sire of trotters and pacers, is worth about $20,000 to the winning three-year-old and has a total purse of about $40,000.

One of the best the circuit can muster will go to the post for the mile race, which is decided on a best two out of three heats basis.

Desota, owned by Paul Bowser, Boston wrestling impresario, and Tobacco King W. N. Reynolds' Schapans are co-favorites, with Twilight Song from the stables of Bill Strang, Brooklyn storage man, a little behind the favorites. Twilight Song was the two-year-old champion of 1936.

Greyhound's attempt at the record will replace the first race of the international due between Greyhound and the European champion, Muscletone, originally scheduled for this week. Giovanni Malani, owner of the Italian trotter, asked for a delay. He arrives here today to complete arrangements for the race and watch Greyhound in action.

ALI BABA AND KIMAN KUDO ALSO ON CARD

Clara Mortensen vs. Rita Martinez and Steinke vs. Indian

The Venus of wrestling, Clara Mortensen, makes her first appearance in Orange county tonight.

Coming here from the north, Miss Mortensen, publicized as the greatest feminine wrestler in the world and the glamour girl of the padded mat, defends her world championship in a one-fall battle with Rita Martinez, rated one-two-three with the champion by many critics.

The girl grapplers meet in a special added attraction on a card that is a stand-out, one of the best arranged for Orange county mat addicts in months. The show begins at 8:30 o'clock.

TURK MAKES HIT

The feature of the night's program shows the colorful and popular Kiman Kudo, Japanese champion, against Ali Baba, the Kurd, who once held the world title and now appears headed back to the heights. Last week Ali Baba made the biggest single-handed hit of any man to show at the Highway 101 arena when he flattened Leo Numa, powerful Lion Man, in straight falls.

It wasn't the fact that Numa was pinned in straight falls so much as the manner in which Kudo executed the trick. A different type and super-strong man, Ali Baba was the master of the blond Numa from law.

TONIGHT'S PROGRAM

Clara Mortensen vs. Rita Martinez, for women's world wrestling title, one fall.

Ali Baba vs. Kiman Kudo, two out of three falls, one hour.

Hans S. Telake vs. Jules Strongbow, one fall, 45 minutes.

Ignacio Martinez vs. Jack McArthur, one fall, 30 minutes.

Young Stecher vs. Bobby Coleman, one fall, 30 minutes.

Tonight Ali Baba meets a man also different. Kudo is as fast as chain lightning, a powerful little fellow who knows all the tricks of the trade, and is a master in the art of pinning on nerve pressure a la Judo style.

The Nipponese's blinding speed and catlike movements are apt to prove puzzling to the powerful Turk, and may prove a surprise that Ali Baba won't recover from in short order.

Two of the biggest grapplers in the game—Indian Jules Strongbow, who also is one of the meanest of the mean, and Hans Steinke, German giant, come to grips in the secondary feature. It will be brute strength vs. brute strength, with the edge in science going to Steinke and the edge in meanness to Strongbow.

YOUNG STETCHER BACK

Two top-notch supporting bouts, Jack McArthur vs. Ignacio Martinez and Young Stecher vs. Bobby Coleman, make for a stand-out program.

CHEROKEE RUDY YORK PLEASURES DETROIT BEHIND THE PLATE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A broad-shouldered Cherokee, gobbling pitches for Detroit, has put a grin on Mickey Cochrane's face where there had been worry wrinkles over the Tigers' catching problem.

Rudy York has caught the last six games for Detroit, and looks like a permanent fixture.

"York will do, I think," Manager Mickey said. "He has everything a catcher needs, and he can hit."

A first baseman a year ago for Milwaukee, York is 6 ft. 1 in. and weighs 210. He's a good mechanical catcher, has a nice arm and gives the pitchers a big target.

He adds another big gun to the Tigers' batting attack.

More than one-third of Rudy's hits this year have been home runs—and that's a higher percentage of four-base clouts than Home Run Leader Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees can boast.

Rudy has made 17 home runs among 49 hits in 53 games. DiMaggio has 32 homers included in his 173 hits.

York's average is only .256, but when he socks 'em they really sail. He's belted in 51 runs. That's better than a run for every hit he's made.

In his six contests as a regular catcher, York has got six hits, for a total of 21 bases, batted in 10 runs and hit four homers.

When York came up to the Tigers, he's been a catcher in the Texas league. But there wasn't an opening with "Torn Mike" Mickey going great. They tried him at first base, at third and in the outfield, but his fledgling was no bargain.

IRVINE, HOLLY SUGAR PLAY

Resuming play in the Shaughnessy playoffs, Irvine and Holly Sugar collide on Tustin's well-lighted diamond at 8 o'clock tonight in the second game of a series qualifying one of the clubs for the County Nightball league finals.

Irvine, dubbed F. D. Shaw's nine, 9 to 2, in the opener at Irvine last Thursday, but tonight's game will be closer, observers believe.

Brea, which won at San Juan Capistrano, 11-4, last Friday, will play its second game with George Stevens' beach outfit at Brea tomorrow night. The four clubs are engaging in two three-out-of-five game series, the two survivors to meet in a four-out-of-seven-game playoff for the 1937 title.

PUBLIC LINKS DRAWS 200

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The pick of the country's public links talent, as swashbuckling a crew as ever, opened today in the start of the 16th annual national golf championship.

Nearly 200 stars from the public courses of 61 cities and representing 24 states, the Territory of Hawaii and the District of Columbia, lined their clubs for the first 18 of the 36-hole qualifying trials.

They'll be at it again Tuesday, with the low 64 scorers continuing for the match play rounds which start the following day.

WILLOWICKERS SHARE HONORS

F. B. Corey, with a score of 84, won blind bogey competition at the Willowick golf course yesterday. First low net went to Don Mozley with a 78-18-60 and second low net to R. L. Smith, 86-25-61. Wylie Carlyle captured high net.

NEGROES REACH BALL FINALS

DENVER, (AP)—The negro All-stars, their latest victory marked by a free-for-all battle with Texas ball players, and the Duncan, Okla., Halliburtons will clash tonight for the winner's purse in the Denver Post baseball tournament.

Patty Berg Trails By Five Strokes In Women's Golf

CHICAGO, (AP)—The annual derby of the women's Western Golf Association sent a classy field of almost 100 women golfers out today, with dark-haired Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., the "lady over Onwentsia's rugged layout to beat."

Miss Miley, daughter of a professional, has come home in front two straight years, winning in 1936 at Midlothian with a 324 total. The runner-up at five strokes back was Patty Berg of Minneapolis, and the brilliant little Minnesota star was one of several players rated chances of stopping the Lexington girl's victory march.

Horseshoe Titlist Hurls 84 Ringers In State Finals

CALABASAS, (AP)—By pitching 84 ringers in 87 throws, Fernando Isais of Los Angeles won the state horseshoe tournament here yesterday.

Dean Brown, Los Angeles county champion, accounted for 82 ringers in his play-off with Isais, and was second.

Lowell Gray, Long Beach, defending titlist, placed third.

PLACENTIA 4-3 LOSER IN 13TH

NEW YORK. (AP)—Madison Square Garden stock has soared 2 1/2 points since the Mike Jacobs deal was announced. . . . The Traylor (two) is having his troubles may take a tip from Bill Terry and make a third sacker out of Arky Vaughan. . . . Night baseball is on the downgrade in the "Zinninati". . . . Henry Armstrong, who is following Tony Canzoneri's example and playing the small clubs, will have $10,000 to show for his summer's work. . . . The best shotmaker in American golf in Squire Gene Sarazen's book is "Light Horse" Harry Cooper of Chicago.

A House of David infidel (soup stealer and all) is said to be the heart of a Broadway stage favorite. . . . The coast wants to see Tony Galento, the old Newark "night stick," against Alberto Lovell. . . . The John Henry Lewis-Bob Pastor bout, originally slated for the Garden, Sept. 30, may be shifted to Pittsburgh. . . . Bill Mehlhorn is seriously considering abandoning tournament golf for big time bridge. . . . (He has been making more money at cards for a long time). . . . It seems to be his legs, instead of his arm, that is causing most of Bob Feller's troubles.

"Red" Ruffing was the first major league hurler to chalk up 15 victories. . . . Col. Jake Ruppert has served notice on the Yankees he won't go out to see play until they have a 12-game lead. . . . He passed Joe DiMaggio three times the other day. . . . Bobby Riggs, the 19-year-old Los Angeles tennis star, makes no bones about it. . . . He says the No. 2 ranking player this year will be (you guessed it) Bobby Riggs.

Believe it or not, the Dodgers have a perfect record. . . . They've played four baseball games at night and lost. . . . If Jimmy Johnston doesn't land that world's fair sports promotion job, he'll bob up as a promoter at Ebbetts field next summer—and you can bet on that. . . . Just ask Canzoneri about his experience as a bookmaker at Satogata.

C. W. HARRISON, BOB SMITH IN GOLF TRIUMPHS

Medal play honors went to Bob Smith, 76-14-62, in competition at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday, with the winner relying on a 14-handicap to win from Col. Andrew Smith, 73-6-67, and Dean Campbell, 78-9-69.

Mike Maylen and L. M. Forney won blind-bogey, held in conjunction with the medal play, at 75. Saturday's results: Individual medal play—1 up, E. Stephens; 1 up, W. C. Pixley; 1 up, Carl Hanes, even. Blind bogey (77)—Ben Manker, Jack Robertson, J. C. Burke, M. N. (Nick) Thompson, Henry Williams and Bob Weston tied.

ORANGE GETS BOMB KORAL IN BIG DEAL

Randolph Bell Goes To Anaheim; S. A. Has 2 Home Games

By PAUL WRIGHT

Eleventh-hour trades, strengthening three clubs in their mad scramble for the Shaughnessy playoffs for the four top teams in the National Nightball league, today sent:

1. Westminster's troublesome battery, Jack Dugan and the hard-hitting Joe Wallin, to Santa Ana Stars.

2. Ben (Bomo) Koral, popular and veteran catcher of the Stars, to the Orange Cubs. And—

3. Randolph Bell, Westminster's formidable leftfielder, to Anaheim's struggling Valencia.

Completion of the three deals, said to be on the table for the past two weeks, came after a long, drawn-out conference among Managers Ray (Doc) Smith of Santa Ana, W. E. (Bill) Feistner of Anaheim and Francis Penhall and Ben Gelker of Westminster yesterday.

The acquisition of other new talent is today at midnight.

Wallin is a shade under defense on Koral, but will add upwards of 250 points on offense—and it is a greater plate punch that the Stars have been seeking. Wallin, husky Puerto Rican boy who swings from the left side, is batting well above .400, and will occupy the clean-up position with the Stars, Smith said.

Bell and Wallin will revert back to Westminster at the end of the current season, but it is unknown where Dugan will be pitching in 1938. He will become a free agent, with both Orange and Santa Ana dicker for his services.

Santa Ana opened negotiations for Dugan when it was learned that Stan Jacobsmeier, the pinstriped Riverboat boy, will leave Aug. 18 to enroll in a forestry course at the University of California, Berkeley. Jacobsmeier has been pitching masterful ball, losing a few games only because the Stars have failed to hit behind him.

Dugan, it is understood, has wanted a chance with the Stars for some time, and with Wallin behind the plate to furnish Santa Ana a greater plate punch, he should develop into a winning chucker here. The Stars are recognized as one of the finest defensive clubs in the league.

This week's round of games will have an important bearing on the National League standings, which now find Huntington Beach and San Bernardino deadlocked for first place with 17 wins and 7 losses, and Santa Ana and Anaheim tied for third place with 13 wins against 11 defeats. Orange, making a gallant bid for playoff laurels, goes to Anaheim for a crucial tomorrow night, and the Stars hope to remain in the thick of the fight against San Bernardino here. Westminster goes to Huntington Beach.

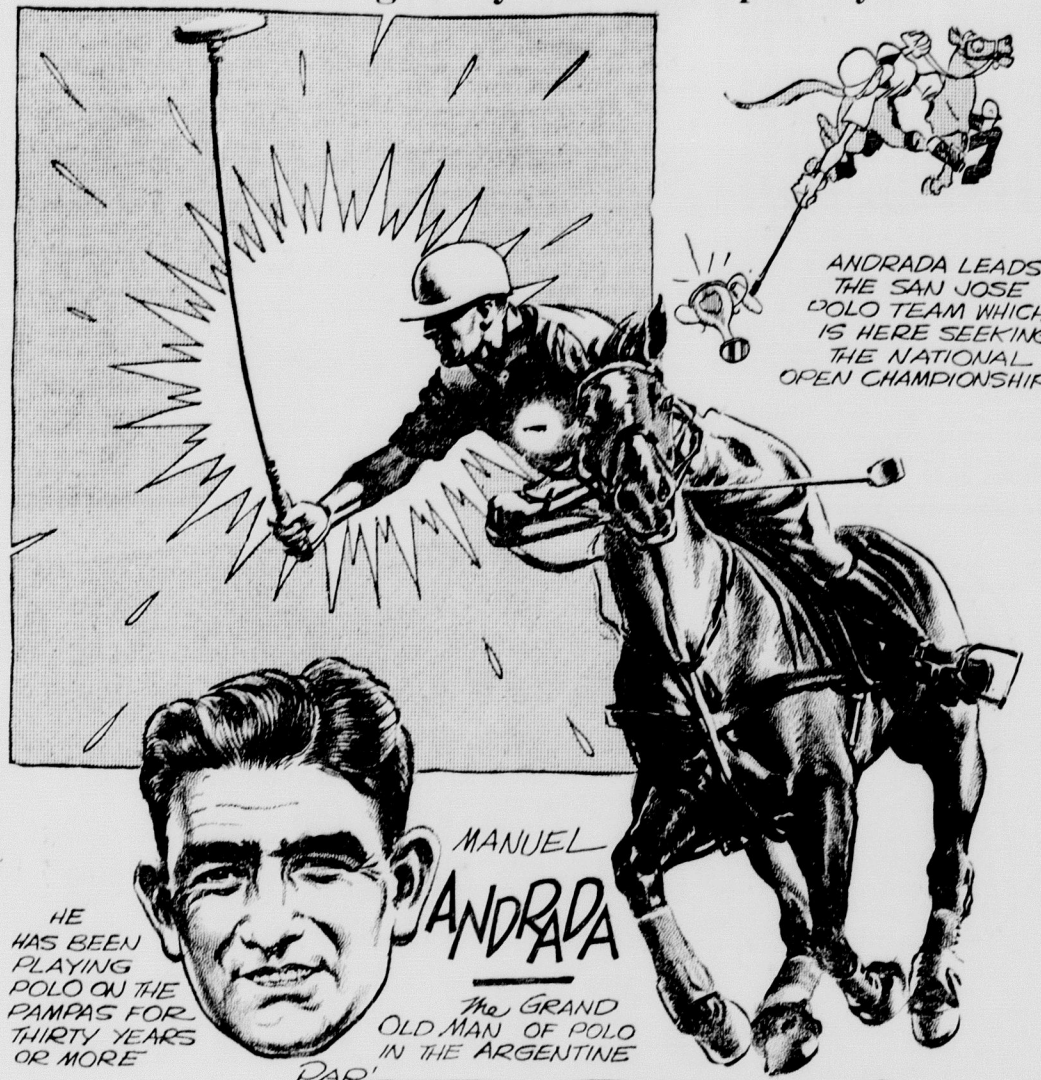

Orange's home game with Santa Ana Friday night has been transferred to the Municipal bowl here at Orange's request. With competition at a heated pitch, attendance should pick up all around the circuit. San Bernardino has been the most consistent winner at the box office.

E. J. Shook's 141 Tops Rifle Shoot

U.S. Challenged By Polo—Pampas Style

All Rights Reserved by The Associated Press

Headed by the colorful Manuel Andrada, the San Jose polo team of Buenos Aires has reached the United States to add to the Argentine's already long list of polo triumphs. The Argentines hold most of the important polo titles. The U.S. open championship would have just about complete the list. The Santa Paula team, led by Andrada, captured the title in 1931. All indications are the present Argentine combination is likely to be very hard to beat.

From Dugan you learn about Andrada, the grand old man of Argentine polo.

Andrada has been playing the game for 30 years. That should make him about 50 years old.

Of English does he speak. He allows Luis Duggan to do the talking for the entire company.

"We think we have a strong team," explained Duggan to a group of polo players.

"We have been playing together and have better mounts than we had last year. Not as many—but more carefully selected. We would not have come all the way from the Argentine had we not thought we had a fair chance of winning."

That's only a guess. When asked his age he smiles and lets you wonder.

Clad in a polo suit, he is a robust-looking athlete. A powerful fellow who needs a large horse. He likes big, fast ponies. Some of the specimens sent along in advance look strong enough to carry even Andrada over the turf at lightning speed.

He is a born horseman. Since his early youth he has practically lived on the pampas—with horses. In the Argentine he is a sort of a legendary figure. He has done more to make the game popular in South America than any other individual.

TWENTY-ONE HOMERS COLLECTED ON COAST; PADRES HOLD LEAD

By the Associated Press
San Diego still held its three-and-a-half game lead in the Pacific Coast league baseball race today with Sacramento in second place, but the San Francisco Seals walked deeper in third and Portland and Los Angeles were tied for fourth.

The coast teams gave demonstrations of good and bad—mostly bad—baseball Sunday with batsmen collecting 154 baseruns, 21 of which were homers.

San Diego took its pair from Portland, 6 to 5 and 4 to 1, but had to play 17 innings of gruelling ball to take the opener. Joe Hare, new Beaver pitching recruit, went the distance, but Herman Pillette and Dick Ward hurled for the Padres, with Ward getting credit for the win.

Howard Craghead won his 16th game of the season in the night-cap.

Nearly five hours were required for Sacramento to beat the Seals, 12 to 10 and 11 to 7. The opener went three hours, with the Senators nipping five San Francisco pitchers for 13 hits while the Seals managed to get 14 from the Seals of Solon hurlers.

The Solons managed to get seven runs from four hits to sew up the second game in the eighth and final innings.

Seattle took a brace of games from the cellar San Francisco Mission, 10 to 4 and 16 to 2. There were four homers in the opener and six more in the second game, two by Art Hurt whose season total reached 30. It tied a mark set jointly by Hunt and his teammate Freddie Muller in 1936.

Los Angeles scored a pair of wins over the Oakland Aconas, 10 to 9 and 3 to 1. In the opener the Angeles made six runs in the fifth inning with the aid of a homer by Ripper Russell with the bases loaded. Dario Lodigiani, the Angels' ace pitcher, was the same game while teammates of Ernie Koy and Walter Hudnich connected for a homer apiece.

PENNSYLVANIA FOLKLORE
Pennsylvania, with its wide variety of racial backgrounds, will furnish a rich subject for Carl Carner's weekly "Your Neck of the Woods" program, this evening at 6:30 over KNX.

Tony Martin, tenor soloist of the series, has been selected by Gracie to play the romantic lead in her forthcoming celluloid attempt.

Gracie will monkey-business with pleasure, for she has persuaded orchestra leader Ray Noble to play a group of melodies with the accent on romance, to establish the correct mood for her theatrical and cinematic pursuit of hapless Tony.

SALUTE SIDEWALKS
Hailing the "Sidewalks of New York" in the 1937 manner, Gus Edwards' "Schooldays of the Air" troupe will offer a musical salute to Gotham's "42nd Street," "52nd Street," and "Park Avenue" during their broadcast over KNX and stations of the Columbia Pacific Network tonight from 8:30 to 9:15.

Pointing out that the old favorite "Sidewalks of New York" treated the paths collectively, while the current trend seems to be toward an individual treatment of the more famous avenues, the choir will take a tune-fest down 42nd, turn over to 52nd, and finally wind up "Slumming on Park Avenue."

HEIDT BRIGADIERS
Broadcasting from Detroit on their personal appearance tour which began July 30, Horace Heidt's Brigadiers will present another group of amusing imitations of styles of other orchestras as the feature of the program to be heard over the Columbia network (KNX) tonight 8 to 8:30.

Selections to be heard include Brahms' "Hungarian Dance No. 5," "Wagon Wheels," "Afraid to Love," "Good Morning," "From the Land of the Sky Blue Waters" and "Allegheny Air."

SAM TEEL TO CHALLENGE MARK SOON

E. B. Workman, Orange Sportsman, Turns In High Aggregate

Aggregating 141 out of a possible 151 points, E. J. Shook of Morro Bay recorded the highest score in heavy rifle competition for the annual members' match at the Santiago Rifle and Revolver club yesterday. Shook formerly lived here.

Shook's brilliant 41, however, will not qualify him for the coveted medal until Sam Teel of Garden Grove is permitted to make an assault on the 141 score next month. Teel is now in National Guard camp at San Luis Obispo, and was unable to participate in yesterday's shoot.

Competition was restricted to members who had never won the medal.

In the members' competition division, Jess Lam of Orange was second high, also with 141x150, but with a lower score on the 500-yard range. A. P. Dunlap of Long Beach was next, with 140x150, and Bob Gelvet of Santa Ana ranked next with 139x150 in the competition.

For highest aggregate scores (all shooters), E. B. Workman of Orange topped the list with 145x150, and Myron Warner of Santa Ana was next with 144x150. Both these shooters have won the trophy, however, so were barred from competition.

Individual scores recorded were as follows:

200-yard offhand—Workman and Warner, each 47 out of 50; Carl Zimmer of Anaheim, 46x50; Jess Lam, A. E. Cook of Long Beach, and Shook, each 45x50; J. O. Smith of Santa Ana, 44x50; Dr. A. J. Olson of Long Beach, and Therman Means, James S. Sweet and Bob Gelvet, all of Santa Ana, 43x50.

300-yard sitting—Myron Warner, 50x50; Roy Ivins of Anaheim, 49x50; Dr. Olson, Dunlap and Zimmer, each 48x50; Lam and Gelvet, each 47x50; Floyd Todd of Long Beach and Shook, each 46x50.

500-yard, prone—Roy Ivins and Shook, each 50x50; Workman and Gelvet, each 49x50; Sweet, Smith and Cook, each 48x50; Warner, 47x50; and Dunlap and Clarence Eddy of Santa Ana, 46x50.

Other scores:
200-yard rapid fire—Warner and Workman, each 50x50; Sweet and Olson, each 49x50; Means, 48x50; Lam, 47x50, and Smith, 46x50.

600-yard prone—Cook and Warner, each 48x50; Sweet, 47x50; Mrs. E. J. Shook, 46x50; Dr. H. S. Howard of Santa Ana, 45x50; and Eddy, 44x50.

1000-yard, prone—Sweet, 49x50; Workman, Dunlap and Warner, 48x50.

RANGER AIDED
Although accustomed to working single handed, "The Lone Ranger" calls upon the Texas Rangers to aid him in frustrating a revenge plot during the current episode of that series heard over KVOE for half an hour beginning at 7:30.

ANIMAL ODITIES
A raven, a dog and an ocelot (whatever that might be) will make their radio debut with their trainer to the microphone during his "Meet Some People" program over KVOE tonight from 7:15 to 7:30.

INTERVIEW LOPEZ
Vicente Lopez, whose forthcoming wrestling bout with World Champion Bronco Nagurski is holding a prominent spot in national sportlights, will take part in a two-way discussion with Frank Bull during the broadcast of "Sports Bullseyes" over KVOE tonight at 6:30.

Lopez will be asked to reveal his plans to capture the present champion's title.

WILKIE STORY
The story of a secret plot to blow up the Atlantic fleet in New York Harbor, and how it was frustrated, will be told by Captain Don Wilkie, former U. S. Secret Service ace, in his new "Crime-light" broadcast tonight, KVOE at 7 o'clock. Overhearing bits of conversation in a sidewalk cafe, Wilkie started an investigation which undoubtedly saved many lives and the loss of several ships.

BILL PARSONS
It will be "Music by Bill Parsons" during the novel Mutual-Don Lee network broadcast of the "Music By—" program on KVOE tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Verred in light opera and musical comedy, Parsons was formerly music director for the St. Louis Municipal Opera and New York's Capitol theater. His orchestra will be heard in a special program of light classics.

KENNER STAKES
Mutual again takes its microphone to the Saratoga track tomorrow to broadcast the running of the $8000 Kenner Stakes race, an important event for three years olds.

Townsend News Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

Here's big news for the business men who are considering attending the Townsend meeting at 509 W. Fourth street at 7:30 this evening. In addition to other attractions being staged on the program in their honor, Madame Stark of Los Angeles, an outstanding contralto soloist, has been secured to sing. Madame Stark has sung the Townsend gospel all over the nation and she captivates her audiences. The speaker tonight will talk the Townsend plan from the business men's point of view. He is W. R. Cogswell, advertising manager of the San Bernardino Sun. The program will start with a concert beginning at 7:15 by the Hurd-Lentz orchestra.

Mrs. A. F. Hibbet, corresponding secretary of the Tustin club, writes that the club will meet at 7:30 on a short business session and then will adjourn to go to Santa Ana to hear the lecture in Townsend hall.

L. C. Carlisle, Santa Ana, is speaking for Fullerton Club No. 1 at 7:30 this evening in American park on W. Commonwealth instead of for Orange club as was announced in this column Saturday. Charles Jesse, Los Angeles, has been secured to address the meeting of the Orange Club No. 1 at 7:30 this evening instead of Carlisle. The Orange club meets in the Townsend club building, 149 S. Glassell street.

An interesting report concerning the activities of Santa Ana Club No. 3, of which Phillip S. Doolittle is president, has been handed the writer. This club, as its number indicates, was one of the early clubs established in Santa Ana. It has the distinction of being the largest from the point of enrolled membership of any in the city. Dr. U. G. Littell, 635 N. Barton street, served as president except for six months in 1936 when Chas. Riggall was the presiding officer, and since July 1 when Doolittle was elected. J. E. Hoblit has also served the club as its secretary the major portion of its existence. Charles Madison has served a similar period as its treasurer. This club collected and disbursed more than $2500 in the interest of the Townsend cause during the year ending July 1, 1937. The furniture in Townsend hall is owned by it, representing an outlay of approximately $500. For a time the club maintained and controlled Townsend hall but last spring turned the management and control over to what is now known as "The Townsend Hall administration board" which is composed of representatives of all the 12 Townsend clubs in Santa Ana. Club No. 3 still continues to be in the forefront of the activities waged in Santa Ana in behalf of the Townsend plan.

Another Birch park meeting is staged for next Wednesday evening. It will begin with a pot-luck dinner beginning at 5:30, lasting until 7 p. m., followed by the WPA band. Bob Adams, Los Angeles Townsend speaker, will make the address of the evening, and District Manager J. H. Walsh will be the master of ceremonies.

Members of the Townsend Hall administration board will take notice that their meeting will be held at 509 W. Fourth street at eight o'clock Wednesday evening. The hour is being set forward to that hour so the speech of Bob Adams in Birch park can be enjoyed by the board members.

Santa Ana Club No. 11 held an enjoyable meeting Friday evening in the E. G. Best home, 315 N. Tustin avenue. The business meeting was held in the Best home and the group then adjourned to enjoy a watermelon feed on the lawn. Lanterns and other conveniences were provided by Mr. and Mrs. Best for the occasion.

New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK. (AP)—Buying in today's stock market centered principally on the steels, although selected rails, farm implements and specialties received their share of bids.

Dealings slowed appreciably after a moderately active first hour and a little profit selling in the final lap reduced extreme gains of fractions to 2 or more points in many instances. At that, a number of leaders reached into new high ground for the recovery.

Brighter prospects for fall business generally, brokers said, had much to do with the improved showing of the list. Company reports also continued to reflect expanding industry in the second quarter and first half.

There was an interruption to the rally in morning, when Auburn Motors slumped more than 5 points following completion of the sale of E. L. Lord's interest in a Wall Street group. The stock cut its loss later when the advancing trend was resumed elsewhere.

Transfers were in the neighborhood of 800,000 shares.

LAUNCH CITYWIDE DOLLAR DAY SATURDAY

MAP SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR
GALA EVENTMerchants Near End
Of Long Preparation

Dollar Day! Those two words have come to really mean something to the thousands of shoppers in the big Santa Ana trading territory. And Dollar Day will be next Saturday. From actual buying experience, thrifty shoppers have learned that on the two Dollar Days staged each year by Santa Ana merchants, values unobtainable at other times are offered.

The big event will be staged under auspices of the retail division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. Every merchant in the downtown shopping district is participating in the event, staged primarily to promote good-will among the thousands of customers of the stores.

TWO-MONTHS PREPARATION

Local merchants have been planning this Dollar Day event for the past two months. Nothing that could make the event attractive to thrifty buyers has been left undone. Businessmen have bought new merchandise from manufacturers from the East to the West coast.

What's more, the enthusiastic cooperation of wholesale houses has been enlisted, and these wholesalers are working with the merchants to enable them to offer goods of every description at rock-bottom prices.

Dollar Day has become an institutional event in this city. It is held twice a year. The one next Saturday is the last one of the current year, and for this reason, shoppers are being urged to make special plans to take advantage of the savings offered on all classes of merchandise.

AIRPLANE ADVERTISEMENT

For the first time in history, an airplane will be used to spread the good news of Santa Ana's Dollar Day throughout the county, and throughout Southern California, it was announced today by F. A. Jones, manager of the J. C. Penney store and publicity chairman of the event. On Thursday an airplane from the Martin airport will roar over the city, carrying behind a trailer announcing the Dollar Day event.

"We are confident that this will be the biggest Dollar Day ever staged in the history of Santa Ana," Jones said today. "Merchants are cooperating with great enthusiasm, and will give the buying public the best bargains in quality merchandise they have ever seen here. We expect thousands of shoppers from out of town, and we will do our best to not only make them enjoy themselves, but to send them home with their arms loaded down with fine merchandise, purchased at prices almost unbelievably low."

BEACH PLANT
HEARING SET

Seal Beach city and Orange county both will be on the defensive next Friday, when the state board of equalization again considers the $2,000,000 assessment of machinery in the electric plant at the beach city.

District Attorney W. F. Menton, returning late yesterday from Sacramento where he and Assessor James Sleeper appeared on the county's behalf, said Los Angeles, owners of the plant who object to the assessment, wanted to present the ruling of the city of Seal Beach on their protest, so that both could be ruled on by the state board at the same time.

BAG STOLEN FROM CAR

A traveling bag, containing a pair of glasses, $4.21 in cash and various other articles, of a total value of $21, was stolen from an automobile owned by Helen Paul yesterday afternoon when she parked it near her home, 318 North Main place, she reported to the police.

Japanese Troops March Into Tientsin

A contingent of Japanese troops is shown swinging into Tientsin, where some of the bitterest fighting between Japanese and Chinese forces in the North China crisis has occurred. These same soldiers later engaged Chinese troops in battle.

CITRUS LABOR
CASE WATCHED

The claim that agricultural workers do not come within the purview of the Wagner act, set forth in an answer to alleged unfair practices by the North Whittier Heights Citrus association, today had gained support of citrus growers and packing plant officials of this county.

They claim that the Wagner Act excluded the citrus workers from protection of the recent legislation, and that congress now is preparing a new wages and hours bill to include this type of worker.

The North Whittier plant is faced with charges by a chartered American Federation of Labor union that the house was unfair and discriminatory in discharge of a worker. Plant officials claimed, in an answer to Dr. Towne Nylander of the National Labor Relations Board, that the dismissal was because of inefficiency and not for union activity. It protested "arbitrary assumption of jurisdiction" by the labor board in dealing with the question.

Dr. Nylander said that it would require investigation of two or three weeks to determine whether a formal hearing would be called to settle the question of labor jurisdiction in packing plants, particularly citrus houses.

Orange county plant officials are watching with keen interest the outcome of the North Whittier case, because it will have a direct bearing on the local citrus industry.

LOBBYIST GLAD
BONDS PASSED

Orange county's foremost lobbyist today congratulated the voters for approving the $2,500,000 water bond proposal last July 27.

He is George Malone, former Nevada state engineer, who twice went to Washington as emissary de luxe at the taxpayers' expense, and who twice returned empty-handed except for fancy expense accounts which included tips for train and hotel porters. He sent a letter to County Clerk Joe Backs lauding the voters for their endorsement of the water bonds. Backs also said that Congressman Harry Sheppard of San Bernardino wrote a letter of congratulation over the victory of the bonds.

War Feast in Spain May Be Ended in Fall, Observer Says

(Editor's note: An Associated Press correspondent looked at Spain's war today, from behind the lines of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, and what he saw led to belief that the civil conflict is near determination. This is his story.)

By EDWARD J. NEIL

WITH THE INSURGENT ARMY ON THE ARAGON FRONT. (AP)—Through the blazing heat of mid-summer, the Civil war in Spain is thundering toward a climax.

The turning point may come in the mountain badlands southwest of Teruel, where Generalissimo Francisco Franco's eastern army is trying to knife through the vital Madrid-Valencia highway; on the coast of the Bay of Biscay; in the Aragon of the north-east, or in the rich mineral lands of the south.

But the issue probably will reach final solution on the blood-spattered barricades of Madrid.

If you could see the preparations, catch the deadly determination of the insurgent leaders and warriors alike, you would probably feel with them that the war will see its most decisive phase this fall—if not its conclusion.

A bird's eye view of Spain shows Franco's forces in the ascendancy—an army grows, in little more than a year of fighting, from scattered thousands to some 650,000 powerfully organized and equipped men.

Insurgency claims two thirds of Spain's territory. Franco's junta rules 14,000,000 people. The Spanish government, still clinging to the country's three largest cities, Madrid, Valencia and Barcelona, was estimated by insurgent sources to rule 9,000,000 people.

The battle lines reach some 1200 miles, from the valleys of inland provinces of Santander and Asturias on the Biscayan front in the north, down a zig-zag course to the shore of the Mediterranean on the south.

Just as in last November, the insurgent lines snakes through the western outskirts of inland Madrid and around part of the southern rim of the former capital, ready to roll forward at any moment the city's defenses are sufficiently weakened.

Since Madrid is Spain, both to the country's population and to the world outside, the dispute will be settled there. Two weeks ago it seemed the climactic stage of the grim game had been reached when Franco's army partially rolled back a government salient into his rear-guard territory.

But the insurgents did not pursue those gains. The Madrid front lapsed into comparative quiet. The Aragon front became the theater of the bitterest fighting.

Madrid is not only the sentimental heart of Spain. It is the government's greatest stronghold. The plains that surround it, now burning under temperatures that daily better 100 degrees in the shade, offer a great natural defense.

Behind the city's ramparts tens of thousands already are believed to have fallen. The government has 45 international brigades there, brigades of two battalions of 600 men each, a total of about 54,000 men. It is estimated that 30,000 of these are French volunteers, 3000 Britons and the remainder Americans, German expatriates, Italian anti-Fascists, Czechs, Poles and a few Russians. Estimates of the governments air force ran as high as 300 planes, perhaps less now after the losses of the mass aerial operations in the recent Madrid front fighting. There are hundreds of pieces of artillery and possibly 10,000 machine guns on that front alone, insurgents estimated.

Against this array Franco has an equal air strength and even more men. It has been suggested that it would take 1,000,000 men to capture Madrid with a head-on assault. That would mean the virtual destruction of the capital, which the insurgents would like to avoid.

The insurgents seem content to chop up other fronts, slowly weakening the government and leaving Madrid for the piece de resistance of Spain's war feast.

MAIN ST. CRASH
INJURES TWO

Two persons were injured in an accident at Second and Main streets last night, which resulted in the driver of one car getting a citation for an expired driver's license.

Ruthie Mae Rothenberger, 16, Prospect avenue, Bell, was taken to Orange county hospital for treatment for an injured right hip. She was given first aid by Officer L. H. Nicholson before being sent to the hospital.

Mary Elta Rothenberger, 1½, received a small cut on her forehead.

Marvin Troy Beasley, 1051 West Second street, was given the citation for his expired driver's license.

According to investigating officers, the car driven by Beasley collided with that driven by Edwin Rothenberger as he was traveling west on Second. The Rothenberger car was traveling south on Main at the time of the accident.

Hold Last Rites
For Mrs. Royce

Funeral services for Mrs. Jessie F. Royce, 80, resident here since 1920, were held from the Smith and Tutill chapel this morning, the Rev. W. S. Buchanan officiating.

Born at Freeport, Ill., in 1856, Mrs. Royce had vivid recollections of the Civil war and Lincoln, for whom she had the greatest veneration.

She began schoolteaching in a log cabin in northeastern Iowa, holding teaching positions in three towns of that area prior to her marriage, in 1882, to F. B. Royce. They had seven children, a daughter, Mabel, preceding Mrs. Royce in death two years ago.

She was devoted to her family, doing all that was in her power to further their best interests.

Active church worker in the severe Iowa towns and Handboro, Miss., in which she lived before coming to Santa Ana, beside the Congregational church here, Mrs. Royce found time also to be very interested in, and well-informed on, state and national politics.

She is survived by her husband, F. B. Royce; four daughters, Lucy S. Royce, Mrs. L. C. Button, Mrs. Hugh Smith and Mrs. John Gowdy, all of Santa Ana; two sons, W. F. Royce of Chicago and E. T. Royce of "Red Bank, Calif., besides eight grandchildren.

Burial was at Fairhaven Mausoleum.

SHIPMENTS OF VALENCIAS
SHOW DROP915 Carloads Sold
In County in July

Shipments of the Valencia variety for the month of July through the association affiliated with the Orange County Fruit exchange amounted to 915 carloads, 28 cars of which were sold through market channels within the state of California and 887 were moved to export and domestic markets. This makes a total of 2691 cars of valencias moved to Aug. 1. To the same date last year shipments of packed and loose valencias amounted to 3268 carloads.

Lemon shipments from the district for the month of July amounted to 39 cars, which brings the total shipments to date of this variety to 278 carloads. The total California Fruit Growers exchange storage as of Aug. 1 shows a decrease of 23 per cent as compared with the storage of July 15 and is below the storage on the same date during three of the past five years. Actual picks for all shipments of the California Fruit Growers exchange for July were 112 cars heavier than was estimated for July 1. Estimated picks for August, while below last year, are only 55 cars less than a five-year average picks for the month of August.

LEMON DEMAND GOOD

The market of California lemons during the month of July has remained steady with prices at a very satisfactory level even though temperatures for the most part during that period have only been about seasonal to slightly below normal at the close of the month. While temperatures are very moderate at the present time in all markets, the demand for lemons is still quite good and are moving considerable volume at satisfactory prices.

The estimate of the merchantable crop of Southern California lemons, as reported by the California-Arizona orange and fruit agency still stands at 22,700 cars which includes the entire shippable crop for the season for all shippers. Shipments of Valencia to July 21 have amounted to 19,000 cars, which leaves a merchantable crop as of Aug. 1 of 8861 carloads, which compares with 15,097 cars shipped packed and loose after the comparable date of last year.

ORANGE DEMAND LIGHT

Although about up to normal for August, the demand for California oranges is lighter at the present time than the movement for June and July. Sales are lighter with a somewhat lower market. Deciduous fruits and melons are playing a large part in the lighter demand for citrus fruits. The peach crop is reported to be 21 per cent greater than last year, pears 12 per cent larger, and apples 65 per cent heavier than the production of last year.

Based upon the shipments of recent years we would expect the movement of deciduous fruit for the month of August to be approximately double that of July with September shipments being about in line with those of July. Shipments of oranges from California were reduced this week to 750 cars of federal movement, a reduction of 200 cars as compared to the previous week. This reduction in shipments appeared necessary in order that supplies moving to market might be in line with the expected demand for oranges at this season of the year.

Today he was making hay while the sun shines—on the capitol lawn. He estimated the blue grass would net several tons of hay.

WOODCHUCKED

IRONWOOD, Mich.—Bozo was pointed out today as a model dog who always gets his prey, come sewer pipes and high water.

Bozo chased a woodchuck into an eight-inch pipe which led to a street catch basin. Fifty feet in, both became wedged. Howls brought the fire department.

A hose was lowered into the catch basin and pressure turned on. Out the end they entered were flushed the dog and the woodchuck. Dripping, but game, Bozo pounced on the chuck and felled it.

PAVING 'EM OFF

OMAHA, Neb.—R. A. Maher of Omaha parked his car overtime and the police towed it to their garage.

They asked Maher to pay $3.50 for a release. He wouldn't do it, saying the police could keep the car. He explained "it won't run anyway." The police plan to auction the vehicle.

Police Court

Judge J. G. Mitchell's police court was comparatively quiet Saturday as one case of reckless driving, two speeding cases, one boulevard stop count, and conviction on a new city anti-drinking ordinance were tried.

Julio Valenzuela, 438 Central avenue, was fined $15 on the new city ordinance 1041, prohibiting drinking liquor in the public street.

Lorin T. Griest, Santa Ana, was fined $25 for reckless driving. Those convicted of speeding charges were Pauline A. Mercier of Pasadena who was fined $6 and Mabel F. Reid, Santa Ana, who paid $5. J. R. Funakoshi, Los Angeles, paid $2 for failure to make a boulevard stop.

CITRUS PROBE
NOT PLANNED
HERE BY U. S.Land Mark Appraiser
Denies Current Rumor

No federal agency has under consideration an investigation of citrus marketing conditions in Orange county. The Journal learned today in a communication from R. E. Nebelung, chief appraiser of the Federal Land Bank of Berkeley.

Rumors heard by growers to the effect that the land bank was planning to launch an investigation into the marketing situation here because of the limited crop, caused by the winter freezes, were shown unfounded in the report from Nebelung.

"I recently spent two weeks in Southern California," Nebelung said, "about half of which time I was in Orange county. I heard numerous complaints from Orange county growers regarding what they termed discrimination against them by the fruit inspectors."

"I have an interest in an Orange county grove and, although we sold practically the entire crop for juice, I did not feel that the fruit should have been shipped and sold fresh. In other words, had I been a purchaser I would have been disappointed had I paid more than a nominal price for fruit of this quality."

"I realize, however, that reports have been circulated freely that fruit no better than Orange county fruit has been packed and shipped from other areas with quite satisfactory returns to the growers. I have personally not had an opportunity to check these statements and there have been no plans made by the Federal Land Bank of Berkeley to make any investigation. I will watch with further interest any further development and hope that all growers will be treated the same no matter in what county their groves happen to be."

'Halt Elopement'
Mother Begg Police

A runaway girl, thought to be a prospective bride, was being sought by police today, after her mother asked them to halt the ceremony she believed would occur in Oxnard.

Seventeen-year-old Juanita Calderon left the family home at 510 Central avenue, Delhi, after dinner Saturday night. She said she was going for a walk. She did not return. Her mother, Mrs. Eremnia Rodriguez, told officers that she believed the girl was headed for Oxnard to be married to a 23-year-old youth she said had been courting her daughter for the past few months. She gave police a complete description of the pair.

A BANKER
Must Be a Business Man

In addition to his knowledge of financial matters, a banker must understand many things about commerce and industry.

This is necessary for two reasons:

First, so that he can direct credit into the channels that will benefit both the borrower and the community; second, so that he can help his customers meet their problems.

Here, at this Bank, we do not claim superior knowledge, but our contact with many different kinds of businesses enables us to give an outside viewpoint that frequently proves helpful to those we serve.

Aileen Adams Announces Nuptials

Formal Tea Reveals Plans For August Wedding Rites

Dainty little corsages within which were entwined miniature announcement cards were the means whereby the engagement and approaching nuptials of Miss Aileen Adams and Kenneth Crawford were made known when the bride-elect's mother entertained at a formal Sunday afternoon tea yesterday. The wedding will occur August 25th.

Mrs. William H. Adams of Newport Beach was hostess in the attractive home of lifelong friends, Miss Myrtle Rutherford and Mrs. Harriet Rutherford Bonnell on East First street. Among the lovely flowers which were used as decorations were blooms sent the honor guest by Mrs. John Kinyon.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Adams and her daughter were Mrs. Byron A. Crawford of Twenty-Nine Palms and Tustin, mother of the groom-elect. All three wore exquisite flowers. Mrs. Adams in smart black taffeta and net with vivid red begonias, Miss Adams in blue taffeta with delicate pink begonias, and Mrs. Crawford accenting her attractive afternoon frock with gardenias.

Presiding over the lovely tea table were Mrs. Susan Rutherford of Balboa, Mrs. William G. Reynolds of Pomona, Mrs. Russell Porter of Whittier and Miss Sade Fox of San Francisco, while assisting in serving were Mrs. Bonnell, Miss Rutherford, and the two charming sisters of the honoree, Mrs. Ivan Belman (Margery Adams) of Banning, and Miss Marian Adams.

Miss Adams is a graduate of Santa Ana schools and is the daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. W. H. Adams of Newport Beach. Mr. Crawford is a member of a prominent Orange County family, and attended school at Tustin. After their wedding they plan to live in Santa Ana.

Calling during the afternoon were Mrs. Fred Farrell, Miss Mary Jane Dodd, Mrs. R. F. Pippas, Mrs. John Kinyon, Mrs. M. J. Deardorff, Mrs. Robert Guad, Mrs. W. Wieman, Mrs. Golden Weston, Mrs. Ray Wolven, Mrs. T. D. Fournery, Mrs. Richard Basse, Miss Amy Ried, Miss Betty Vorce, Mrs. Carlton Smith, Miss Helen Demetriou, Mrs. Dorothy Dunbar, Miss Florence Turner, Miss Mary Jean DuBois.

Mrs. Eldon Eby, Miss Margaret Von Esson, Miss Norma Wilson, Miss Agnes McKinstry, Mrs. B. Uttley, Mrs. Agnes Lindig, Mrs. Jane Keller, Mrs. Robert Edwards, Mrs. Walter Herriek and Mrs. Irene Lancaster, all of Santa Ana.

Mrs. R. J. Carmichael and Mrs. Mary Anderson of Calexico; Mrs. H. W. Kornder and Miss Harriett Kornder of Visalia; Mrs. Susan Rutherford of Balboa; Mrs. T. L. Melton of Costa Mesa; Mrs. Russell Porter and Mrs. W. G. Reynolds of Whittier; Miss Sade Fox and Miss Ernestine Wakeham of San Francisco; Miss Eleanor Wisner, Miss Margery Wakeham and Miss Virginia Henderson of Garden Grove; Mrs. William G. Reynolds and Mrs. M. E. McKay of Pomona.

Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger of Anaheim, Miss Betty Seely of Tustin, Mrs. F. J. Walker of Oceanside, Mrs. Clyde Higgins of Orange and Miss Helen Covell of Escondido.

FAR VALLEY
There is a poem I must write
(You will understand)
Who sense instant urging of
The Muses' hand.)

My task is like a valley
Misted . . . unexplored.
Hear the bubbling stream of rhymes
Which I must ford.

My pen's an oar.
Deep-dipped in thought
(The hostly trunks of word-trees pass)
All slopes of this sweet valley lie
Embraced in rhythm-grass.

Strange! The while this valley
lures,
Enchanting and enthralling me,
I hear beyond the happy hills
Another valley . . . calling me.

There is one far, bright poem
Which I shall soon day write
Deep in a misty valley
Beyond the hill of Night.

"ILLUSTRATED NEWS"
I have no thong of circling words
To capture Song this night,
And yet their wings are brushing
me
In subtle flight.

Why must the loveliest songs of all
Thus wordlessly pass me by,
Ardent for capture, maiden-coy,
Coquetting through my sky;
While here a docile dozen
With features all too plain
Rest on my bare beating heart
Intimately as Pain.

Quick! Toss me thongs of gosamer
Bring cliffs of golden cloud,
I'll catch ten Songs before the dawn
And wrap them in a shroud.

Book Review of the Week

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of weekly book reviews of current publications which will appear each Monday in The Journal.

"Suns Go Down," by Flannery Lewis

By MOLLY HARVEY

Flannery Lewis had a delightful grandmother whom he justly felt should be immortalized in literature.

Her whimsical character, (which reminds you of "Father" in John Day's sketches), as well as her life in Virginia City, furnished excellent story material. Mrs. Flannery had eloped from her New England home at the age of 16 and was one of the first respectable white women to reach the Comstock lode. She is still there, clinging through habit rather than sentiment to the house which saw the comet of one of the most fabulously rich gold strikes in history rise and fall.

The book is written in a leisurely anecdotal fashion, interspersing Grandmother's eccentricities with characters and incidents which made Virginia City a rip-roaring place in which to live. Between 1870 and 1880 it reached a stage of flamboyance which is perfectly incredible. Sometimes the city would designate a day for public entertainment—the mines would agree to close together so that one company would not get ahead of another, and all working men would put one day's wages into an entertainment fund.

NEWSPAPERS TELL OF WEDDING DATE

Miniature newspapers with huge headlines informed guests in the Isaac Thomas home, 1733 West Washington street, Saturday night of the approaching marriage of Miss Margaret Hill, daughter of the home, and Russell White of Huntington Beach.

An informal evening of games began the party, which was brought to a sudden climax at the serving of a dessert course when the newspapers announced September 5 as the date chosen for the wedding.

Bouquets of orchid asters and yellow marigolds formed a lovely color combination in the decorations of the home. Prizes were awarded to Miss Adeline Loptien and Pete DiFabio for high and low in the game of monopoly.

Included in the group of intimate friends at the announcement party were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis of Santa Monica, Miss Mary Denni of Anaheim, Miss Adeline Loptien of Orange, Miss Marjorie Wright of Pasadena, Pete DiFabio of Huntington Beach, Carlos Enoch of Orange, Bill Jones of Pasadena, and Miss Hill and Russell White.

TEXAS VISITORS START HOME

After being entertained in the home of the San Jernigans, 701 North Birch street, during the past week, three visitors from Hillsboro, Texas, started for their home this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith and two sons Billy and Louis, Jr., have been touring the Middle West, Canada, and the Pacific coast for the past month. They left for home by way of San Diego, and plan to visit El Paso and Carlsbad en route home.

I'll rope them fast with loops of light
And lay them breathless there,
Their wings all coiled in syllable
And laced with bleak despair.

And while my cold mind gloats upon
This bloody work of capture,
My vagrant heart will loose them all
To soar the hills of rapture.

Schroeders Entertain At Beach

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder and family, who have occupied the beach cabin of the Henry Witts at Newport for the past two weeks, have returned to their home, 2227 Lincoln street, bringing with them the memories of many delightful informal gatherings there.

Miss Leola Schroeder chose the beach setting for two charming luncheons to entertain some of her college friends. She chose an appropriate nautical theme for her table each time. A white paper cloth with blue sailboats and matching nautical white pottery with blue ships surrounded the centerpiece of a blue cellophane sea edged with shells.

Guests at the first luncheon were Miss Patty Rapp, Miss Jeanette Klatt, Miss Betty Hill, Miss Margaret Munro, Miss Jean Munro, Miss Betty Jane Moore, Miss Muriel Bray, Miss Barbara Davis, and Miss Florence Liggett. At the second affair Miss Schroeder entertained Miss Nina June Robertson, Miss Pauline Cave, Miss Catherine Cooper, Miss Charlotte McCausland, Miss Eunice Filer, Miss Mildred Filer, and Miss Clarice Miller.

Houseguests of the Schroeders for the two-week period included Robert Witt, Robert Walter, and Fred Pope.

TWO BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED WITH DINNER

Mrs. Lila Niedergall celebrated the birthdays of her two granddaughters, Miss Betty Niedergall and Mrs. Bernard Sharpley, with a charming dinner party in her home on Friday evening.

Mrs. Sharpley, formerly of Santa Ana, is visiting relatives here with her husband for a brief vacation. They make their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. Niedergall was assisted in her party arrangements by Miss Mayne Brightwell, who occupies the Douglas home, 626 North Broadway, during the absence of the owners. The dinner was served at a lovely table centered with a low bowl of pink amaryllis with matching pink candles in crystal holders.

Included in the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sharpley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Niedergall, Mrs. Bernard Rice of Dayton, Ohio, Miss Betty Niedergall, the hostess, and Miss Brightwell.

They were joined later in the evening for a game of bridge by Miss Henrietta Bohling, Miss Pauline Parsons, Mrs. Sue Bryant, Miss Lee Patton and Miss Edith Johnson.

SPECIAL MEET PLANNED BY CHURCH SOCIETY

A special meeting, featuring a covered dish luncheon and a young people's program in the afternoon, will be held by the Women's Missionary society at the First Presbyterian church at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. R. D. Flaherty will be hostess to the group in her home, 802 South Broadway. Guests have been asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service.

Miss Minnie Davis, young missionary who is home on her first furlough from Korea, will be the chief speaker of the afternoon. The rest of the entertainment will be provided by the young people of the church.

The executive board of the society will hold a special meeting at 11 a. m. in the Flaherty home, preceding the luncheon.

BRIDE-ELECT COMPLIMENTED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Robert B. White was hostess Sunday at a miscellaneous shower complimenting Miss Audrey Harvey, who will marry Richard White on August 27.

The honor guest is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Q. Harvey, and her groom-elect is a brother of Robert White, himself a recent bridegroom.

The hostess had arranged a pretty table decorated with golden marigolds and yellow and white balloons, and the latter were hung as decorations in the attractive living-room, also.

Guests at the affair were Mrs. H. Z. Harvey, Mrs. R. J. White, Miss Jean Taylor, Mrs. M. Hicks, Mrs. Wilma Titton, Mrs. D. Runyon, Mrs. Lyle Reed, Mrs. Iola Harvey, Miss Juanita Webb, Miss Gladys Truman, Mrs. Frank Artberry and Mrs. Tom Bernier of Garden Grove, Mrs. Roger Zimplan of Fullerton, Mrs. Audrey Norton and Miss Lola Lemberg of Orange, and Miss Lou Heddon of Los Angeles.

BOISE GUEST TO LEAVE SOON

Miss Ann Chucas, 1028 West Third street, has been entertaining Miss Bernice Hicks of Boise, Idaho, as a house guest in her home for the past few weeks.

Miss Dorothy Brandel, also of Boise, will join Miss Hicks in Santa Ana for the return trip to their home. They will leave on Wednesday, traveling to Idaho by way of Ogden, Utah, where they will make a brief visit.

Tux and Gown Is Attended By Many

Tux and Gown's first summer formal was a delightful affair of Saturday evening, with some 80 couples gathering at the Santa Ana Country club to dance to the music of Huston Hertz's orchestra.

Gay summer evening gowns were the order of attire for debutantes and matrons, while their escorts were in flannels and other sports apparel.

Many parties preceded the event, which in preceding years has been known always as a sport dance. Miss Lolita Mead was hostess to 20 guests at a delightful buffet supper held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Mead. In her party were Miss Muriel Matzen, Miss Helen Wiesseman, Miss Mildred Spicer, Miss Karen Cooper, Los Angeles; Miss Florence Backs, Anaheim; Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Bruning, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curran, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Curran, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coulson, Dr. Harold Wetherman, Paul Bowman, Tom Georgehagan, Carl Wilman, Howard Crandall and Duncan Power.

The Dr. Stanley Nortons received a group at their home, with those calling including Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Nalle, Mr. and Mrs. Thoburn White, Mr. and Mrs. Quincey Hardy, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rimey, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lindemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ranney, Mr. and Mrs. John Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Zaiser, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stump, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Williams of Ontario. In another gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Don Harwood and Mr. and Mrs. Gail Jordan.

Participating in a pot-luck affair at the Robert Guilds' were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Elrott, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Brakehill, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Cook of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. DeRoy Dickson, Miss Katherine Swaffler, Lester Martin, Miss Barbara Davis and Dan E. Maloney, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Matzen were host and hostess to Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Lemper Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn Holmes, and Mr. and Mrs. Hanns Wahlberg.

PATIO PARTY GIVEN ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Marguerite Fox was joined by Wilbur Cassidy in playing host and hostess to a group of friends in the Fox home, 1002 West Canby street, who celebrated her 19th birthday anniversary Saturday evening.

The patio of the home, which was the setting for the party, was lighted with Japanese lanterns and a fishpond at the side of the garden reflected the blue lamp above it. Bouquets of begonias and gladioli completed the colorful decorations.

The evening was spent in dancing and games. During the dessert course served at the close of the evening, numerous gifts were presented to the birthday honoree.

Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cassidy, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bauer, Miss Vivian Vale, Miss Ruth Townsend, Miss Jeanice Wengel, Miss Rosemary Sittin, Cecil Starnes, Robert Stegitz, Kenneth Markham, and Verne Nelson.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION
Daughters of Union Veterans will have their regular meeting in the M. W. A. hall at 2 p. m. tomorrow, followed by a tea to celebrate the 26th anniversary of the founding of the order.

Circus animal clips are something new to brighten late summer clothes. A prancing zebra, striped with rhinestones and black enamel, accents the lapel of this white linen suit worn with a black velvet beret and washable white knit rayon gloves finished with black pipings.

Mary Stoddard

Homely Girl Still Has Chance if She Will Develop Personality, Humor

Have you ever heard the expression, "Why, she's so homely she's good looking." And at some time or another in your life haven't you met a girl or woman that this description fits?

One of the most popular women I know is so homely that as she laughingly says, "I don't dare to look a clock in the face for fear it will stop!" She is a mother and a grandmother. Yet I don't know of anyone who gets more out of life. She dresses neatly and conservatively and she has cultivated a sense of humor and a personality that is so outstanding that you just don't even stop to analyze her looks.

Perhaps this will be of help to the girl who writes the following "waif":

Dear Miss Stoddard: People often say "beauty is only skin deep" or "looks don't count." But, Miss Stoddard, all of my life I've been so unhappy because I'm not pretty and have found that we homely girls are certainly not having much enjoyment like these girls who have looks.

Of course, I've tried in all ways to make myself more attractive, but there certainly isn't much you can do with a long nose and near-sighted eyes.

I love to go to dances, but, Oh, Miss Stoddard, how many times I've come home and cried because it's only these pretty girls who get all the boy friends and dances.

As far as the rest of me is concerned, I know I'm well liked and try to be nice to everyone so I know it's only my homely face that has caused me to regret ever having been born.

I'm not boy crazy, but how many times I've wished I could get a little romance out of life to

Thank you, ROSEMARY.

If you'll stop looking at yourself and underestimate nature's work, and learn to smile and mean it, just as surely as you have written this letter, a young man will come along who will appreciate you because you are you.

More than 30 members of the church society were present for the review of Harold E. Fey's "World Peace and Christian Missions." Those who reviewed the chapters of the book were Miss Lana Brokaw, Mrs. C. D. Buxton, Mrs. Hugh Heaney, Mrs. Ira Kroese, and Miss Marlene Leonard.

Mrs. Glenn Tidball, as general chairman for the day, directed the afternoon program and the pot-luck lunch which was served to the group at noon in the shade of the walnut trees in the Curry gardens.

TUSTIN GROUP ENJOYS BEACH PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nisson and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sharpless entertained members of the Mariners' class of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin at an enjoyable beach party over the weekend, with the Rev. Calvin Duncan, their teacher, as an honored guest.

Community singing was led by Orlo Householder and Mrs. Rena Bouchard. Guests of the two couples were the Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Perry and children, Carvin Duncan, Ernest Harwood, Worth Alexander and children, Orlo Householder and children, Merle Thompson and children, Arthur Smith, Mrs. Paul Etzold and children, Mrs. Rena Bouchard and children, Miss Louise and Miss Gertrude Montgomery, Joe Thompson and Ted Marshall.

Party Honors Departing Traveler

Departing for a year of Hawaiian residence, Miss Muriel Maccuria, whose sailing date aboard the S. S. Lurline is August 21, was complimented Saturday afternoon at a luncheon party given by Mrs. Malcolm Maccuria.

The affair was held at Daniger's with a beautiful bowl of shaded petunias blending into the rose tones of pink oleanders arranged in lei form on the lovely table.

At the close of the afternoon attractive prizes carrying out the bon voyage motif of the afternoon were presented to high scorers at both auction and contract. Miss Maccuria who will teach in the islands was first at auction, while Mrs. Blanche Strock was high at contract. Low score awards went to Mrs. Leslie Steffensen and Miss Edith Cornell.

Guests were the Mesdames Aubrey L. Glines, Gilbert G. Platt, Nelson Visel, Frank Was, Charles Brisco, Howard Straw, Clarence Bond, Charles Fuller, E. E. Webster, Emmett Elliott, Emily Munro, Ray Brown, Blanche Strock, Roy Winchester, H. R. Brinkerhoff, J. Leslie Steffensen, Horace Scott, Charles Swanner, Edward Power, Walter Humphries, J. L. McFadden, Oryon Robinson, Winfred Russell, Frank Lansdowne, Miss Edith Cornell, and the honor guest.

NEWLYWEDS TO MAKE HOME IN ANAHEIM

In the beautiful moonlight patio of the Santa Ana wedding chapel Miss Gladys Russell Palmer, daughter of Mrs. Amy Palmer, 504 Van Bibber, Orange, was united in marriage to Emil E. Blankmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich Blankmeyer, North Tustin street, Orange, in a simple ceremony witnessed by the families and a few close friends.

The bride wore an attractive gown of wood-brown featherweight wool crepe, with complementary white accessories. She carried a beautiful handkerchief, the gift of three young friends, Patty Lou, Carrell and Albert Rhodes Benson, Jr. Her corsage was gardenias and bouvardia.

Miss Betty Stork was bridesmaid, dressed in a maple-leaf ensemble with a corsage of Tallman roses. Glen Kirk, Anaheim, was best man. A musical program was given by the chapel organist, who also played the wedding marches. The Rev. Earl E. Bloss performed the rites. The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Ward W. Hannum, Anaheim.

The couple will be at home to friends after August 15 at 321 South Lemon, Anaheim. Both are graduates of Orange union high school, and the bride also is a graduate of Santa Ana Junior college. She has been employed as secretary in a Santa Ana law firm.

BETTY TIMMONS GIVEN BON VOYAGE DINNER

Miss Betty Timmons was hostess Saturday evening at a gay little dinner party complimenting Miss Willie Fay, who with her mother, Mrs. Frank Fay, sailed that evening for Honolulu.

The group dined buffet style and later drove to the harbor where they saw the Fays embark aboard the S. S. Lurline. Guests of Miss Timmons were Miss Fay, Miss Betty Vosskuhl, Miss Betty Holmes, Bob Paul, Maxie Galusha, Peter Kotlar, and Dick Taubert.

Youngsters Need To Do Housework

'Household tasks offer an ideal opportunity for children to assume responsibility.'

anyway. "Naturally he can't do the task as well as his mother can."

"Don't ask too much of him. Give him affection and security, so he won't mind asking for help when he needs it."

TASKS MUST BE VARIED

Dr. Andrus tells of a five-year-old who insisted on carrying a guest's suitcase out to her car. His mother let him try it, but halfway down the drive he dumped his burden down, and said "I guess you'll have to help me."

There shouldn't be any distinction in sex when allotting duties. Tommy can be as good a dishwasher as his sister Jane. And he won't turn assy overnight because he helps his mother around the kitchen.

The psychologist warns parents against keeping their children too long at one task. "The 11-year-old daughter of a friend of mine once came to me in tears," she says, "and told me she was going to run away from home because her mother made her dry the silver after every meal."

"There's a silver-drying stage in development, but it's the earliest stage—and children grow out of it." The errand-running stage is soon outgrown, too, and the pot-luck lunch which was served to the group at noon in the shade of the walnut trees in the Curry gardens.

Parents who won't allow their children to have any responsibility at all seriously endanger their adult life. Dr. Andrus believes.

An example she cites is the woman who as a child was continually told she was "too little to cook." She hates cooking now.

Treat Hair Before Permanent

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Your new fall permanent will be a success if (a) you choose your operator with care, (b) go to a salon that handles only the best equipment, (c) pay a fair price and (d) see that your hair and scalp are in A-1 condition before you make the appointment.

Wait several weeks, if necessary, while you give your hair reconditioning treatments, and see that it gets extra brushing and scalp massage.

Start your home treatment with a thorough brushing. This loosens particles of cuticle on the scalp, starts the circulation and helps cleanse the hair. Now part your hair across the crown from ear to ear and divide it into one-inch rows. Be sure to expose the scalp. Dip a small piece of cotton into the reconditioning oil and apply it liberally along the parting.

Part the back section of hair in the center first. Work from there, parting at intervals and swabbing with the oil. When you have gone over the entire scalp, rubbing the oil in well, apply the oil liberally to ends.

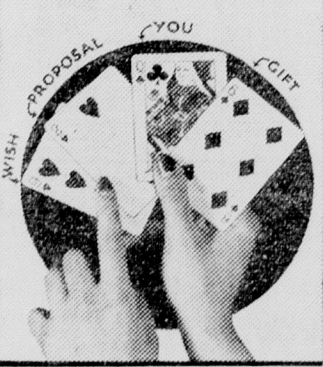

Now massage thoroughly. Start at the nape of the neck by pressing the thumbs into the little hollows there. Work carefully around the neck and ears. This helps to stir the circulation. Lift the scalp by kneading and pressing in circular sweeps of the fingers and palms of the hands. When your scalp feels warm, you will know the circulation has been thoroughly aroused.

At home an ordinary electric heater or a towel wrung out of hot water may be substituted. After five minutes or so of this, you are ready for a thorough shampoo. Rinse and remove the excess water with a lintless towel, then douse the scalp liberally with tonic, using the fingers to work in it.

Finally, if your scalp is dry and lazy, part the hair again at intervals and apply some of the pomade sparingly along the parts. Work into the scalp by massaging briskly with your fingertips. Now comb and part your hair and push and wave into place. You will find the tonic and pomade give your hair a lustrous, silky finish.

Tell Clever Fortunes To Entertain Friends

Easy to Learn How!

Painful silences? Wallflower evenings? You don't have them if you know even one of the ways to tell fortunes.

And fortunes aren't hard! One of the most interesting ways—card fortunes—you can learn in no time by practicing on yourself.

First you pick your name card. If you're a girl with brown eyes and brown hair, for instance, you're Queen of Clubs. Next you shuffle, cut, and deal into three piles. If the card which turned up in the cut appears in the pile with your name card your wish comes true. The Nine of Hearts is especially favorable to a wish; the Six of Diamonds, a wish to win a prize; the Two of Hearts, a wish to get a new car. Each card has its meaning. You can even see fortunes in your camp fire. Put salt on the blaze and watch for shapes in the flames and embers. If you see a

Don't Carry First Aid Too Far

By C. N. CHIRMAN, M.D.

Before the days of automobiles and super-highways, accidents resulted in injuries such as broken bones and burns in the homes or at work. An occasional runaway horse, drownings, gunshot wounds while hunting and injuries to railroad and factory workers comprised the great majority of accidents.

Now, people are going in every direction at breakneck speed, camping, fishing, moving hundreds of miles a day. They play golf, baseball, tennis and football. They over-crowd bathing beaches and indulge in all kinds of death-defying pleasures. Floods, riots, wars and multiplied kinds of machinery have increased the number of accidents to an alarming extent.

Medical aid is not always at hand, and a working knowledge of the first aid measures has become almost necessary.

Doctors have given freely of their knowledge and time to teaching Red Cross workers, Boy and Girls Scouts, electrical employees, policemen, firemen, and playground inspectors. Clubs, school-teachers, and all kinds of people have attended the classes in the simple rules for first aid and what to do in emergencies.

With all this, a note of warning should be sounded. First aid means aid to the sick and injured to prevent contamination, loss of blood and strength, overcome shock and do what needs to be done till expert aid can be secured. It does not mean that you are capable to continue to treat that patient successfully till recovery takes place.

After you have given relief by first aid insist on the patient seeing a doctor. Then if he advises you to proceed with nursing care, you can feel safe.

Your first aid training does not fit you to furnish subsequent treatment and the patient can obtain damage from you if injury results from any of your first aid treatments. It is important for you to obtain further expert service as to have first aid.

'Spirit' Subject Of Science Lesson

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson-sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The golden text was from John's first epistle: "No man hath seen God at any time... Hereby know we that we dwell in Him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit."

The lesson-sermon included Paul's words to the Corinthians: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestations of the spirit is given to every man to profit withal... For by one spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one spirit."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, were the statements: "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God. Mortals have a very imperfect sense of the spiritual man and of the infinite range of his thought. To him belongs eternal life."

Man Confesses Attack-Death

NEW YORK. (AP)—A 49-year-old married hospital orderly who has spent more than a third of his life in prison was charged with murder today as the stranger ravisher of Paula Magagna, 8, fourth Brooklyn child in as many years to die at the hands of an attacker.

The ex-convict, Lawrence Marks, paroled from Sing Sing only two months ago, broke after police shattered 15 separate alibis he gave during a 13-hour grilling. He confessed to choking the girl to death with a cord and mutilating her body in the basement of her tenement home July 31, Assistant District Attorney Frederick Kopff announced.

Taken to the basement under heavy guard, Marks re-enacted the crime while the family of the dead girl remained in their apartment overhead. Police kept back a crowd of 300 neighbors incensed by previous sex attacks on children in the district.

3 Die in China Airliner Crash

HONGKONG. (AP)—Three members of the crew of a Chinese airliner forced down at sea in a heavy fog were missing today as eight survivors, including two Americans, were brought to Hongkong aboard the British destroyer Thracian.

The plane's pilot, Edward S. Smith, formerly of Los Angeles, suffered severe bruises and an injured hand.

The other American aboard, E. M. Walsh, an aviator employee by the Canton government, was not injured.

The eight were rescued at sea by a Chinese junk after Smith made a forced landing due to rain and fog off Chingling Point, 85 miles northeast of here. A wave upset the plane and broke off one wing.

Stale Bread Can Be Used To Advantage

By JUDITH WILSON

Bread holds an important place in the diet the world over. It may vary in color, texture and flavor, different grains may go into its composition but wherever we find it, it forms the backbone of the family diet.

Here are some ways for using up stale bread:

Apple Cakes

Slice the bread, toast slightly on each side and spread one side liberally with butter, sprinkle with a mixture of cinnamon and sugar and lay the slices of toast on a flat baking pan. On each slice, lay overlapping sections of apples that have been peeled, cored and cut into eighths. Sprinkle with lemon juice, cinnamon and sugar. Dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven until the apples are tender. Serve warm with whipped cream or small balls of vanilla ice cream.

Bread Waffles

Spread slices of not too fresh bread on both sides with softened butter, and toast in your waffle iron. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon or serve with jelly for breakfast or luncheon.

Oyster Timbales

Canned or quick-frozen oysters should be used for these when fresh oysters are not in season. Drain a pint of oysters and chop coarsely. Mix with 2 cups soft hard crumbs, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 slightly beaten egg, ¼ teaspoon celery salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. If the mixture is not moist enough add a little of the oyster liquor. Line muffin tins with slices of bacon, fill with the oyster mixture and bake in hot oven until the bacon is brown. Garnish with parsley. This recipe makes 6 timbales.

Stale Rolls

Sweet rolls and coffee cake that grow stale can sometimes be freshened by dipping quickly into hot water and heating in the oven. If this idea doesn't appeal to you, then slice thinly, dip in slightly beaten egg and milk, fry in butter and serve with apple sauce, syrup or jam as you would French toast. Rain bread or the new cinnamon bread is good when used up in this way.

Teach Children By Radio as Schools Close

MELBOURNE, Australia. (AP) Officials closed most public schools here today in an attempt to check the spread of infantile paralysis. The children will be taught in their homes by radio.

The disease was spreading at the rate of five cases a day, officials said. It broke out July 26. Movie matinees were cancelled and children were barred from swimming pools.

Girl's Attacker Commits Suicide

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—Dr. Armen Greenhut, convicted by a circuit court jury of criminal attack on a 13-year-old schoolgirl patient, was found dead this morning in his cell.

Sheriff Granville C. Boyle said: "I would not term it suicide until the coroner's jury has completed its investigation." He added he was not able to give the cause of death.

Dr. Greenhut was convicted of having attacked 13-year-old Ruth McGowan, his school-girl patient. Conviction made the death penalty possible, although the jury recommended mercy.

USE RUBBER MAT

Place a rubber mat on the surface of the sink which is likely to come into contact with aluminum pans. Such pans may leave dark stains on tables and sinks. These marks may be removed, however, by using a mild cleaner applied on a moist cloth.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Hal Roach, jr., finally has won his argument with his dad. Instead of sharing a joint bank account with his producer father and going to school, young Hal draws $50 a week as a second assistant director at Dad's studio.

The argument was over the 18-year-old sprout's ambition to quit school and start learning about pictures as the hard way. Dad thought he ought to stay in school, but the bulky, chubby-cheeked son this summer convinced him that it was time he learned a thing or two about Dad's business.

Hal, jr., has been "around the studio" on vacations ever since he can remember. But he has never had a job there before. The job now is as near the bottom as a man can get without a union card: Assistant to the assistant director, and on the "Our Gang" comedy unit, making shorts rather than features.

Sixteen years ago, Hal, jr.'s antics inspired his father with the idea for "Our Gang," which in a sense makes the son already an important contributor to pictures. The boy has been away at military school (Culver in Indiana). He came home with six letters in athletics and a B-plus average in scholarship, ranking twentieth in a class of 150 graduates. Boxing and football were his specialties. He says he'd like to try out his football in college, but—

"Dad's only worry is that I'll get later not having gone to college. I think I can make up for that here. I like to read, and you have to study to get ahead in pictures."

At the studio the boy is not "the boss's son." As second assistant, he runs errands, fetches missing actors, and is general handy man. He calls for his pay check with the rest, and he pays his own expenses.

TO ANOTHER STUDIO?

His immediate ambition is to get an assignment on a feature. "I'm trying to talk up the idea," he says seriously. "I wish I knew someone who could put it across to Dad." And then— "After I've worked here for a while—I haven't mentioned this to Dad yet—I think I'll try to land a job at some other studio. I know I can't right now, but after I've caught on to some of the things a fellow ought to know, I think I'll stand a better chance."

SEEK RELIEF COORDINATION

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A meeting to seek consolidation of federal, state, county and private relief agencies was called here today by Roger W. Jessup, chairman of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors.

"The primary purpose of the conference," said Jessup, "will be to determine unified policies for administration of all funds under a co-ordinated program. Something must be done immediately to avert public bankruptcy because of tremendous relief expenditures."

Transient Ban Seen for State

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Representative John H. Dockweiler of Los Angeles said California may be forced to close its borders to destitute transients unless the federal government gives aid.

Dockweiler told the house "tax-payers threaten to strike and unless the federal government will make an effort to understand California's unique relief problem and cooperate in solving the situation, the state borders may yet be closed in self-defense."

He insisted the care of such transients, seeking relief from dust, drought and depression, was a national rather than a state problem.

Woman, 91, Dies In Blazing Home

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—A 91-year-old woman and her niece died today in a fire which trapped them on the second floor of their home. They were Miss Nancy Mays and her niece, Mrs. Jennie Cole, 69.

Two other residents in the house were rescued by firemen and neighbors who reached across from adjoining buildings and pulled them to safety from bedroom windows.

Three firemen and a policeman were burned.

The bodies of the two victims were found in a hallway a few feet from a window toward which they had crawled. Firemen said they were overcome by smoke.

The story shows the nation's stability threatened by a series of sensational bank robberies in the Middle West, which Taylor is commissioned to solve.

Pat O'Brien and Henry Fonda are co-starred as a pair of power linemen in "Slim," second feature on the three-day bill, with Margaret Lindsay as the girl whom both love. The supporting cast is headed by J. Farrell MacDonald and Stuart Erwin.

Included on the bill are a cartoon and newsreel.

ROOSTER EXECUTION
A spectator at a cock fight at the town of La Caridad, Honduras, in March, 1937, Porfirio Canales met a strange death when one of the roosters flew at him and thrust a steel spur through his heart. The rooster was brought to trial in the town court, was convicted and hanged.

SHINGLE MONEY
With most of its currency made almost worthless by the "wild cat" banking panic of 1837, the county of Sanilac, Michigan, adopted shingles as its chief means of exchange. Practically all business was conducted with the "shingle money," a thousand shingles being equivalent to one dollar.

MANNERS

A recent rush-hour passenger on a Times Square shuttle train informs us that a slim youth wriggled through the incoming crowd and made a dash for a seat, whereupon he was rebuked with considerable severity by an elderly traveler of the same sex. "It's all right," he told the boy, "to keep a seat if you have it, but a gentleman doesn't fight for one. At least," he added, "not on the shuttle."—New Yorker.

Judge Stump

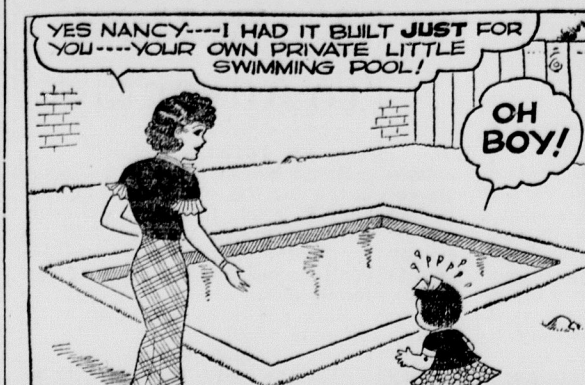

Dear Judge: Did anyone ever really enjoy a cold shower?
LILLIE TRITE.
If they enjoy a shower at all, they have to enjoy it cold in a few boarding houses I've known.

Pillowed Pets Done in Needlepoint

PATTERN 5911

Let this fluffy Tabby-cat and her pal, Rover, bring a cheery note to your home. They're done in needlepoint; just about the easiest form of needlework there is—it's only half a cross stitch! Done in wool it's smart and durable. These motifs will make a pair of cushions you'll be proud to own. Get started on this delightful pickup work right away. The colors are indicated by numbers right on the transfer. Pattern 5911 contains a transfer pattern of a dog 8½x9½ inches and a cat 8½x9½ inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Santa Ana Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Court Bill and a Prophecy

Passage by the senate Saturday of the lower court reform bill—without even a mention on the bitterly fought over supreme court packing plan—leads us to make a prophecy:

The United States supreme court will never be "packed."

A few weeks ago there was a danger point, but that point, like the crisis of a fever, is now safely past.

Even the malady on which the fever fed—if unpopular political and economic views of judges may be so characterized—has receded.

President Roosevelt, who doubtless believed honestly and with great fervor some weeks ago that packing the court was a necessity vital to the nation's welfare, has seen his ideas shrink and vanish—and, we believe, feels a strong sense of relief thereat.

The President has one supreme court appointment to make at his pleasure. Doubtless congress, being largely of the President's mind politically and economically, will indorse for him a justice he considers "liberal."

And in the next three and one-half years, almost beyond a doubt, President Roosevelt will have the privilege of another supreme court appointment or two.

Thus nature will be taking its course; the wisdom of not tampering with the basic mechanism of the supreme court will be demonstrated; and President Roosevelt will go down in history as having steered the country safely through a major crisis with the regular constitutional means available to any other president.

Give Accident Victims Every Chance

Curiosity is a powerful motive, and it takes a strong-minded individual to drive calmly by a highway accident without stopping to see what has happened.

But this natural and understandable curiosity should not lead anyone to park in a fashion that blocks the highway and obstructs the efforts of officials and ambulance attendants to get the victims to a hospital.

Such an occurrence happened near Santa Ana last week-end. The Journal had a photographer on the scene who made a camera record of the crowd blocking the ambulance while six injured people waited suffering until the way could be cleared to get out.

The photographs in Saturday's paper showed graphically how a curious gathering can block the highways and cause what might prove to be serious delay.

There is a law in California against parking so as to obstruct the road where an accident has taken place.

Officers do their best to enforce it, but at times the crowd is too large to be handled.

In such cases, the motorist should think of the plight of the unfortunate victims and refrain from doing anything which might hinder first aid or ambulance service.

Film Colony Hard on Child Stars

Life as a Hollywood movie star isn't all peaches and cream.

Take Freddie Bartholomew, child movie star, for instance. A recent story revealed that his aunt and guardian is considering taking him back to England, ending his motion picture career. The reason, she says, is that the lawsuits and publicity of the movie colony is making it difficult to bring Freddie up as a normal boy.

Certainly it's hard for any child who earns more money in a week than many heads of families earn in a year to live a normal life. Add to this the fact that he is famous, feted wherever he goes, treated as a crown prince would be treated—and it seems almost impossible to keep a child star anything like a normal youngster.

Maybe Junior is a lot better off getting his face dirty, his pants torn and his nose bloody playing around with the kids in the corner lot. Anyway, you'd never have to worry about giving up a $1100-a-week contract for him to take him back to normal boyhood.

Anyway, British sportsmen can take consolation in the fact that the Endeavor crossed the line the same day as the Ranger.

Taxing New Citizens

Unless we want aliens to live in this country without attempting to become American citizens—and we certainly don't want that—it is absurd and wrong to put unnecessary difficulties in the way of citizenship.

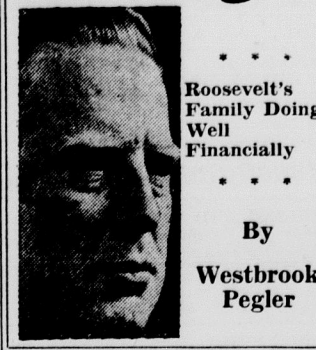

Yet, in Washington, the house immigration committee has voted to double the cost of naturalization. The New Deal, in 1934, reduced that cost to its present level—$10 to $30. Seven members of the house committee propose to put it back where it was before—$20 to $50.

Rep. Sparkman of Alabama, in whose district aliens are few, sponsors the proposal, arguing that it would bring in a million dollars a year to raise the wages of employees in the naturalization service.

These employees may need better pay, but it doesn't seem sensible to give them better pay and at the same time less work by increasing the cost of becoming a citizen and so decreasing the number of aliens who can afford to become citizens.

FAIR Enough

Roosevelt's Family Doing Well Financially

By Westbrook Pegler

In connection with the report of the congressional committee on tax avoidance I have read Mr. Roosevelt's message introducing the subject, and have been particularly impressed by the application of certain of his remarks to his own case and that of the Roosevelt family.

Quoting Justice Holmes, the President said, "Taxes are what we pay for civilized society," and added, on his own account, that too many individuals want civilization at a discount. Among those who have taken their civilization at a discount is Mr. Roosevelt himself, who paid no federal income tax on his salary as governor of New York, and now pays no state income tax on his large federal salary and allowances, although he is a resident of New York enjoying very special and expensive service at the cost of other New York citizens who receive much less pay. His political opponents, named in the investigation, were smeared with his general charge of immorality, although the treasury admitted that many of these individuals had complied with the law, and that smear struck as Mr. Roosevelt intended it should, notwithstanding their exculpation.

PRESIDENT PROTECTED

Ham Fish, the representative of Mr. Roosevelt's home district, attempted to cite a case in which there was reason to ask whether Mr. Roosevelt had taken advantage of a "clever little scheme" to claim depreciation on an ancient barn on his Christmas tree ranch, but the same committee which had joyously broadcast the names of Mr. Roosevelt's enemies in a tone of obloquy, rallied to protect the President from the sort of treatment which he had dealt them by virtue of his official position. Mr. Fish was not allowed to say a word until he agreed to avoid the subject of Citizen Roosevelt's tax returns.

THEY'RE ALL AFRAID

I questioned one official of the internal revenue department about this, citing a flagrant violation of that verboten by a rich institution, and he closed his jaw and shook his head. A congressman in tax returns to whom I put a similar question, said, "For God's sake, do you want me to commit suicide?" and said the same thing when I proposed that labor organizations should be similarly scrutinized. Here are two typical sources of tax information, in addition to the class of public officials and employees, which are warily ignored in the highly non-conscientious desire to "relieve suffering and want, to protect the weak and curb avarice," as Mr. Roosevelt put it.

The reference to avarice is especially interesting in view of the remarkable progress of Mr. Roosevelt's family in the struggle for existence since he first took office as President. Mrs. Roosevelt has become one of our most prosperous authors, practically from a standing start as of 1932, while many other writers whose artistic qualifications are at least comparable are still nickeling along or hacking away for the Communist department of the WPA. Genius has followed the electric returns in the case of Mrs. John Boettiger, the President's daughter, for she also went journalistic after Mr. Roosevelt's first election and, within the last year, above all the thousands of professional newspaper women in the United States who need jobs by which to live, has been singled out as peculiarly qualified for sub-editorship on one of Mr. Roosevelt's newspapers. Maybe these were mandates, too.

FAMILY DOING WELL

Mr. Roosevelt's son, James, draws $10,000 a year as secretary to his father, another son does very well in Mr. Roosevelt's radio department which is beholden to the President's political radio board for its licenses, and, the other day, of all the interior decorators in the United States, the one best equipped for the newly-created task of traveling around the world to lovely-up our embassies, was discovered in Mrs. Irene De Bruyn Robbins, of Buenos Aires, the widow of Mr. Roosevelt's cousin. The job pays $6000 a year, plus expenses, of course, and it will take at least a thousand small-fry income tax returns to meet the expense. But a mandate is a mandate after all.

We come to the point where Mr. Roosevelt said of his political opponents, "It is all right to do it if you can get away with it." There we pause to think of avarice, of the perjury of those who "shift the tax load to those less able to pay," who "want civilization at a discount," and, by their conduct, endanger "the decency of American morals." And now, brothers and sisters, leave us turn to page 22 and sing, "My God How the Money Rolls In."

"What will your son be doing in college next year?" "Ageing."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: The Brass Ring, awarded by the authors of The Washington Merry-Go-Round to outstanding Capital figures, is "good for one free ride on The Merry-Go-Round.") It goes this week to Judge Ewin Lamar Davis, chairman of the federal trade commission.)

WASHINGTON. — When Ewin Davis was appointed to the federal trade commission in 1933 he was derided by some news commentators as a lame-duck congressman who couldn't get a job anywhere else, and upon whom Roosevelt had taken pity as a favor to his brother, Norman Davis.

Norman Davis at that time was commuting across the Atlantic in feverish attempts to disarm the world and negotiate debt agreements. He was ambassador-at-large for both Hoover and Roosevelt, and a very much limelighted man.

His older brother, on the other hand, was known to his colleagues in congress, the people of Tennessee, and that was all. Just at that particular moment, moreover, he was so indifferently known to the people of Tennessee that they failed to re-elect him to congress.

Ewin Davis, at the time Roosevelt rescued him, was out of luck, out of a job.

But in the years that have passed, the see-saw of fate has somewhat reversed the status of the two Davis brothers. Norman, although quite prosperous, thanks to large fees as reorganizer of the Kreuger match properties, no longer is in the limelight. Disarmament, through no fault of his, is out of style.

On the other hand, Ewin, as a member of the federal trade commission, has become a real power in the world of American business, and one of the most forthright crusaders against monopoly in the game.

THREE DAVIS BROTHERS
It is unique that one small corner of Tennessee should have turned out three brothers, all of whom were to make their mark on the nation. They were born in Bedford county, the third and youngest brother being Paul Davis, now a Nashville bank president and a director of the federal reserve bank.

Ewin, the eldest, soon dipped into Tennessee politics, and when only 34 years old became judge of the seventh judicial circuit of Tennessee, a job which he performed with deadly and painstaking seriousness. He decided 12,000 cases in eight years, and was reversed only 18 times by the state supreme court.

It was as a judge that Davis let drop the first tell-tale indications of his budding liberalism.

ANTI-LYNCH LAW

He dared to jail two wealthy violators of the prohibition act, at a time when it was said throughout the state that no judge would dare imprison them. Awakened by a lynch mob on another occasion, Judge Davis tucked his night-gown into a pair of pants and ran down to the jail, where a crowd had gathered before the cell of a negro accused of speaking indecently to a white woman.

"I can recognize the faces of everyone here," he shouted to the crowd, "and if you don't get out I'll jail every mother's son of you for contempt of court!"

The crowd dispersed. Another time, Judge Davis had to arrest a lynch mob on another occasion, the ring-leader of a break up attempt, in order to break it up. Throughout Tennessee, Davis was

LAGUNA GALLERY

To the Editor: Since you have permitted Donald Button, in your letters column, to express his sense of baffled outrage after viewing the current ten-penny peepshow at the Laguna Beach Art association gallery, please allow me to second his indictment. I find the truth about Our Village Renaissance printed in any newspaper, is such a shock—and so welcome—that I hasten to compliment The Journal.

As no local sheet has shown a willingness to cover the local art scandal truthfully, I hope your pages will remain open for discussion of this problem. After all, Laguna Beach brags to the world that it displays the finest of Southern California's art—a ridiculous pretense which, if it succeeds, can only result in thwarting the advance of the Southern real artists, and in making their admirers the laughing-stock of a debased public opinion.

Take the current gallery show and this year's smock picnic together—or can you?—and you have such an exhibition of tastelessness, bad taste and dishonesty as must discourage the most hopeful visitor from more enlightened cities. Both public shows did indeed include elements which deserved praise. The festival, for all its large dose of poor vaudeville, strove for art and occasionally achieved something highly creditable to a town of this size. At both the festival grounds and the gallery, a few of the paintings qualified for far sounder compliments than the highflown platitudes of local criticism, which, every sign of the artist's latest dab in the title of masterpiece. Parenthetically, there is no valid art criticism here. Our critics have learned too well that honey draws more flies than vinegar, and to at least this one reader, their printed words suggest that the artist enjoy a constant pleasant buzzing in the ears.

When by some miracle a good canvas is admitted to the tomb, it is always hung with a total lack of taste—or is it simply lack of taste? At any rate, it is invariably cancelled by the juxtaposition of inane, ill-painted are calendar pictures which no other gallery would sponsor, and no gallery can afford to sponsor, least of all Laguna's, whose reputation in informed circles hangs in the balance.

By not rebelling against this tradition, the gallery has become not so much a proving-ground for the products of the true art spirit, as merely a sort of Old Artists' Home for the outworn hacks who used to amuse the Laguna crowd. Watts and paint wagon-sides and backdrops for cheap vaudeville turns.

When I speak of "the gallery," I assume the building itself. It offers excellent space, excellent light, two second floors, and two (but not three) shows at once. With such a building—and yes, I know who conceived it and paid for it—Laguna could well demand that better use be made of the wall space. But instead of fine loan shows, or well selected shows of local artists, or even traveling shows of real masterpieces beautifully reproduced, we have chiefly daubs whose company shames the capable conservative painters; and a thin smattering of modern work which, filtered through the timid fingers of the hanging committee, makes an even poorer showing.

Someone once said at town meeting here that what Laguna needs most is one thousand fires and two thousand funerals. He might have added, barrels of paint remover, Laguna has no grave yard, but heaven knows it has its dead—right in the gallery, embalmed in enduring oils.

Here I am back again where I started, with the assertion that the Laguna Beach Art association gallery, as administered today with the aid and comfort of other public and quasi-public groups, is turning Laguna from a quaint backwater of the arts—which it used to be—into an over-publicized, horribly empty sideshow, which no one can take seriously.

Laguna's effrontery, or its ignorance, in claiming artistic preeminence should be a matter of grave concern to all who have at heart the real interest of art in California. PAUL MOONEY, Box 498, Laguna Beach, Calif.

PRICE-FIXING
Judge Davis is a rare sight when he gets wrought up during a trade commission debate against unfair trade practices or monopoly. To him not only the letter of the law, but the spirit of the law must be obeyed.

Once when a large mail-order house was found to be selling goods to retail stores at a price cheaper than they sold to wholesalers, Judge Davis made the case his own pet. The commission's chief counsel had ruled that although this was a very unfair trade practice, nevertheless there was nothing in the Robinson-Patman act which made it illegal.

Judge Davis chewed his pencil thoughtfully. Finally he broke out: "You say there's nothing in the law which makes that illegal. Well, let me see about that. You let me write the opinion on that point. The trouble with you boys is that you don't know the law!" (Copyright, 1937)

NEW YORK.—Diary: Up and dilled a zest for breakfast munching salt water taffy Sheila Barrett sent from Atlantic City. Then at my mail and found notes from two of my favorite editorialists, Dr. John H. Finley, of the Times, and Abel Green, of Variety.

Depressed most of the afternoon over so many excellent journalists being out of employment and mentally at such loose ends. So away to watch the ball players at the Polo Grounds and went down to the press box, albeit too timid to enter. But waved to Grantland Rice.

Dined at home on cold chine of beef. Afterward motoring with my wife to the Riviera cafe but so ornate and jazzy-looking we continued to drive along the Jersey highways, passing the estate of the Lindbergh kidnapping. And I sang Scottish madrigals, with dulcet poignancy.

Among the little known restaurants highly bespoken by choosy gourmets is The Bat near the Provincetown Playhouse, in McDougal street. It is Italian and conducted by a proprietor who waits on tables and whose wife does the cooking. The place is not interested in transient trade, and, unless one is known, the service aloof, casual. For this reason there are rarely more than 20 diners. Pirandello, the playwright, does all his entertaining there when in New York. And among patrons are Toscanini and the Italian banker A. P. Giannini.

Rex Beach is among the few successful authors who has been equally successful riding a hobby as a side line. Some years ago, Beach took over a large farm at Avon Park, Florida, for raising citrus fruit, vegetables and flowers. He has had such success growing gladioli bulbs that he has just leased a tract of land at Ft. Myers where he will set out 2,000,000, making him one of the biggest growers of the kind in America.

Few men of enormous achievement so touched off my hero worship as did Marconi. One evening after theater in London I stepped in the Savoy lift as the only passenger. The operator started, then stopped and swung upon the door for a hurrying arrival. As we shot upward, I glanced into the lift and saw the inventor and his wife. I made a confused apology, explaining my admiration and my pleasure at recognizing him at close range. Like all gentlemen of true greatness, he appeared genuinely flattered by my remark. Afterward in the halls or foyer bowed graciously.

No visitor to Chinatown so excited that quarter as Anna May Wong. She is, when in town, a frequent diner at the Port Arthur and the minute she arrives at Chatham Square the news seems to have reached each warren by grapevine. Every denizen is out front or leaning out windows to watch and murmur welcome.

Miss Wong has an amazing personality, indeed, that attracts in any part of town. New York is a big town, but she is a head turning over a Chinese, Japanese or even a turbaned maharajah. Yet Miss Wong at the play, in the cafe, or along the street, becomes the cynosure of all eyes. Even at base "No. 21" I have seen her entranced eating, talking and snowferry to a full stop.

Bright Moments

Count von Beust, the great chancellor of Austria, like most great men, had one petty vanity. He was particularly pleased with his small feet, and one day at the Austrian court made a wager with a lady that he could wear her shoes. The wager was taken, and Von Beust, right enough, put her shoes on his feet. The lady was equal to the occasion, and ever witty said: "It is indeed singular that so great a minister should live on so small a footing."
